Army Training Before
Hockey, Says Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Military districts across Canada have been sent a special order outlining the "mechanics" of carrying out the army's policy in regard to service hockey teams, a defence department spokesman said today, but he added the need order "does not, of itself, cancel hockey league entries by Canadian army teams."

The requirement that army training must come first may result in cancelling some army entries, because of loss of players, but there is no objection to army teams being entered if men are available under the established policy," he said. (See story, page 11.)

Dominion to Operate
Vancouver Fireboats

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver will receive its new fire-fighting barges from the Dominion government free of cost for maintenance and operation, as well as construction, according to news given today to the City Council in board of works.

Ald. G. H. Worthington, chairman of fire committee, reported that Inspector S. F. M. Moodie of the B.C. civil protection committee had received the information from Ottawa.

California Fire
Seems Near Control

Details of Labor
Bargaining Laws
Closely Examined

OTTAWA (CP)—Details of the Dominion government's proposals for legislation covering compulsory collective bargaining and arbitration came under close scrutiny today by a committee appointed from a conference of Dominion and provincial labor ministers and senior officials.

The committee was scheduled to report back to the conference late this afternoon. It is understood a number of recommendations for changes in details of the legislation were advanced by provincial representatives on the committee and that these will be considered at this afternoon's conference meeting.

WHERE SECOND NAZI TIME BOMB KILLED PARATROOPS IN NAPLES—This heap of rubble and the shattered building adjoining it show the tremendous force of one of the time bombs left behind by the Germans when they evacuated Naples. One wing of an Italian three-storyed artillery barracks stood here, and American paratroopers were quartered in it. More than 40 U.S. soldiers were killed by the blast, which occurred three days after a similar charge exploded under the city's post office. Rescuers are shown digging in the ruins.

2 Russian Armies Chasing Nazis
Westward; Expand Break-Through

LONDON (AP)—Two Russian armies commanded by Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin, conqueror of Kiev, today were pounding westward toward the Polish and Rumanian frontiers on the heels of the shattered remnants of 12 Nazi divisions—about 180,000 men—blasted from the Ukrainian capital in a four-day battle which ended last Saturday.

One Red Army force was reported, surging forward beyond Makariv, 25 miles west of Kiev, to within 50 miles of Zhitomir, key junction of one of the two last north-south railways available to the Germans toward the Polish border, 65 miles away.

A second Soviet spearhead was striking southwest of Fastov, and a Russian communique said it was within 140 miles of the Rumanian frontier. This drive apparently was aimed at enveloping the uncounted thousands of Germans still fighting in the area between the Dnieper River and the Black Sea.

Northern Drive
Carries to Polotsk

Still another Russian army operating far to the north in the Nevel sector was said in a Moscow broadcast to be at the gates of Polotsk, rail junction on the Vitebsk-Riga railway and only 20 miles from the old Polish border.

A German communique Monday had admitted Nazi forces were engaged in a "defensive struggle against major enemy forces" in the Nevel sector.

Stockholm dispatches said the Germans were evacuating civilians from the 110-mile-wide area between Lake Ilmen in Russia and Lake Peipus on the Estonian border, a possible prelude to a forced German withdrawal from the Leningrad front.

The German-controlled Paris radio, as heard in London, said the Russian army had launched a violent assault on the Dnieper Isthmus leading into the Crimea and that strong Red Army forces were being hurled into the battle to smash the German garrison trapped in the peninsula.

The Kiev break-through was expanded to an 80-mile-long front with the capture Monday of Gornostaiopol, 45 miles north of Kiev and 10 miles west of the Dnieper. There the Russians were pinning German forces back against the almost impassable Pripiet Marsh country, the Soviet war bulletin declared.

15,000 Germans
Killed at Kiev

Kiev lost the Germans 15,000 dead and 6,200 prisoners, Moscow said. The newspaper Pravda added that the enemy fled in panic, throwing away weapons, ammunition and even clothing.

8th Army Cuts
5-Mile Swath
In Nazi Defence

By NOLAND NORGAAARD
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS (AP)—Cutting a new swath five miles deep through enemy positions, the British 8th Army has seized positions overlooking the Sangro River and the heights beyond where the Germans are reported establishing the eastern anchor of an Italian "winter defence line," headquarters announced today.

To the west the Nazis massed heavy formations of troops and guns in the Mignano area, attempting to halt the drive of U.S. forces toward Cassino on the main road to Rome. They gathered a powerful striking force for a counterattack in the area five miles southwest of Mignano and west of Galluccio Monday, but Allied guns laid down a curtain of artillery and mortar fire before the assault could be launched, dispersing the enemy.

German prisoners reported unanimously that Nazi command planned to dig in for the winter on a line anchored in the west along the Garigliano River and Aurunci Mountains, through the mountains near Mignano—where U.S. troops already have won footholds—and across the Apennines to the Sangro River.

The 5th and 8th armies already are ramming against this line in most sectors.

NAZIS OFF BALANCE

Slashing along the Adriatic coastal sector, the 8th Army captured Torino di Sangro, four miles northwest of captured Casabellino, and Paglieta, less than two miles from the river. The speed of this drive obviously caught the Nazis off balance.

Farther inland, front-line dispatches said, British, Canadian and Indian troops punched through Torrebruna, three miles west of Celenza, gaining control of an additional sector of the valuable lateral road from Vasto to Isernia, practically all of which is either in Allied hands or under their gun muzzle.

Hitler Talk Starts
Shooting in Germany

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A Swedish newspaper, in contact with sources within Germany, said today disturbances, including the shooting of a number of persons, occurred in several cities Monday after Hitler's beer cellar speech.

The Handels Sjöfarts Tidningen of Göteborg named the cities as Essen, Cologne, Duesseldorf, Mannheim, Hanover and Hamburg.

These cities are in heavily-bombed areas where morale suffered a serious blow and where hundreds of foreign workers still are employed in war industries.

Outbreaks of sabotage and plundering in those areas also followed the speech, this dispatch said, but such reports should be viewed with considerable reserve. If disturbances did occur, they may have been only on a small scale, since Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo and black-shirts still maintain a tight control.

These changes provide for separation of the military and civil administration.

Such reports could be part of a propaganda scheme to create overconfidence in Allied nations.

'Through Screaming Hell, My First Time Under Fire'

By 'CAP' ROY THORSEN
Former Times Sports Writer

IN THE FRONT LINE WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY

(Passed by Censor)—We've been through about as tough a proposition as Jerry can throw at infantry. I came through with only a couple of shrapnel scratches, which did not even necessitate a trip down the line. I hope the old luck holds out.

This is about the biggest scrap we were in, the assault of Hill—deep in the middle of Italy, on Oct. 19. Our platoon of 14 men figured very importantly in the show. It was my first time under fire. And what an inoculation! Emerging from a draw which protected us from preliminary fire, we had to make a frontal assault over open ground to take the ridge. A 300-yard stretch of ground that was a screaming hell of bursting mortars, shells and machine gun fire. The good earth was really jumping from the mess of stuff Jerry poured on us with his mortars and tank guns. The machine gun fire was almost tame in comparison, as we made that dash to gain the height.

My mind was too occupied, you can be sure, to count the number of times I hit the dirt to escape the great quantity of flying shrapnel, but I hit it plenty.

DEAD AND FLEEING
JERRIES
We finally gained the bottom of the slope and from there under cover of our own section gun fire—a really fine show those Bren-gunners put up, too—we charged the height, but before we got to the top with our section under lead of the platoon officer, Jerry was scuttling to beat it. Some Jerries were dead behind their rock parapets, others were bagged as they fled. Fading light spoiled aim, so some got away. My section leader, who hit the hill first—he got a bullet hole through his left arm—looked after the fleeing remaining enemies at top speed. One of the top track men in the Canadian army, he might have caught up to the survivors had his officer not called him back for fear he might get cut off.

STOMACH DOES TURN OVER

We finished off that day's chore with an all-night patrol, through enemy territory, when we again came under machine and tank gun fire. You will probably be wondering if I was scared. To be honest, I am sure I was, although my mind was so occupied with the thought of "make that hill and put a stop to it." I didn't have much time to dwell on other matters.

My stomach did many a turn-over, though, during those close blasts. In the words of the colonel himself, that hill fight saw the heaviest concentration of fire the unit or any part of it had ever come under.

We who emerged unhurt at tribute our luck chiefly to the fact that the ground we went over was fairly soft, which resulted in the mortars and shells digging in deeper and preventing a grass-top ground spray of shrapnel. That was the only factor in our favor that day.

RED PATCH DEVILS

I can assure you it was decidedly a most eventful day. It was a day in which I saw the greatest exhibition of guts I have ever seen. It made me proud to be a member of this (Seaford) brigade and aware of the "red patch." Jerry, according to prisoners, cannot figure out the "red patch devils." It must be a rude shock to enemy morale to see the Canadians still pouring forward under a merciless barrage, during which the Jerries fully expect to force the attackers to ground to stay. They seldom stay around to fight, once they have lost the upper hand. It is maddening to see Jerry scuttle after wounding and killing pals with the crap he threw at us.

Guess that is about all I can say about my first show. It's no fun this war business, but it is a job that's got to be done. I've done what I set out to do to meet Jerry with a rifle. I like this bunch of fighting fellows I am working with. They're of the best who ever saw light in this world. We are now resting a bit, having a bath, the first in many weeks. Delicious it was.

Germany with a definite deadline—a time limit after which, if the effort fails, a ground invasion of western Europe will go forward. The actual timetable is, of course, a military secret. But the deadline is the invasion date, which was communicated to the Russians. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the U.S. air forces, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris, head of the R.A.F. bomber command, have until that time to try to force Germany's surrender by use of air power alone.

Use of Russian bases for shuttle-bombing of Germany may be involved in the truly "all-out" aerial assault expected to reach a climax shortly.

No Sabotage

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Fire Marshal W. J. Scott said today there has been no indication of sabotage in the investigation of the fire which Saturday destroyed two Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps workshops at Camp Borden military camp.

Coming Battles
Expected Costly
In Allied Lives

By E. C. DANIEL
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill gravely proclaimed the "impending ruin" of Germany today, but with all the force of his leadership and language warned that in his belief the Nazis' defeat could not come before 1944.

He asserted the campaigns of next year might surpass the tragedies of Waterloo and Gettysburg, that "unless some happy event occurs, on which we have no right to count, 1944 will see the greatest sacrifice of the British and United States armies."

The valiant and brilliant Russian offensives have wrecked the German war machine and inflicted wounds "that may well prove fatal," he declared.

He asserted the back of the Nazi submarine warfare has been broken, and that the devastating air war on the Reich has "been one of the prime forces in the impending ruin of the Hitler regime."

In other high points of an address broadcast to the world, Churchill:

Noted that next year is election year in the United States and commented: "I am sure I speak for all those on both sides of the Atlantic who mean the same thing—and they are numbered in scores of millions—when I say that our supreme duty, all of us, British and Americans alike, is to preserve the goodwill that now exists throughout the English-speaking world, and thus aid our armies in their grim and heavy task."

Stated bluntly that this "is no time for those who have practical war work to do to dream of a brave new world."

Of the Moscow Conference, Churchill said "we have all been cheered." He paid tribute to Secretary Hull as "that gallant American eagle." The Moscow accord "has had the effect of making our Russian friends feel as they never felt before that it is the heartfelt wish of our British and American nations to fight the war out with them in loyal alliance and afterwards to work with them on the basis of mutual respect and comradeship for resettlement and rebuilding of this distracted, tormented world."

Mr. Churchill again expressed hope for a meeting of himself, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin of Russia.

The central theme and purpose of his address was to combat Allied over-confidence.

Vancouver Council
Hits Chlorination

VANCOUVER (CP)—City Council unanimously demanded today that chlorination of Vancouver's water be discontinued.

A resolution which aldermen ordered for ratification at their formal meeting next Monday calls for the Federal government to stop the dosage and retain the chlorine machinery for use only when:

1. Danger of enemy action or sabotage is threatened.
2. Count of coliform bacteria in the supply passes the international standard during periods which normally lasts for only a few weeks each year.
3. Five Vancouver doctors have issued statements declaring there now is no reason for chlorination.

Explosions at Arsenal

METUCHEN, N.J. (AP)—A series of explosions at the U.S. Army's Raritan Arsenal today was reported at the plant to have destroyed two magazines without killing or injuring any employees.

French ammunition brought to this country from overseas and stored in one magazine at Raritan, exploded. Damage was unofficially estimated at $50,000, and included the magazine and two freight cars standing nearby. The army said there would be no interference with production.

The Raritan arsenal is an army manufacturing and shell-loading plant.

It has been a year of steady advances for the Allies in North Africa and Europe, but the road to Germany is still a hard one. Map spots key war events through the year following the British-American invasion of North Africa on the night of Nov. 7-8, 1942.

'Open Door' Urged For Jew Refugees

TORONTO—Board of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church of Canada has come out in support of the petition being circulated by the Canadian National Committee on Refugees urging the government temporarily to waive immigration restrictions so as to allow entry into Canada of Jewish refugees from Europe.

"We must accept our share of these refugees for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer," says the board's statement. "We must permit them to throw in their lot with us. This is our Christian duty. There are many thousands in countries like Portugal. The time has come for Canada to effect a more 'open door' policy."

The board is asking ministers to co-operate in circulating the petition among church organizations.

Nancy De Marigny Gives Evidence For Husband to Conclude Defence

By E. V. W. JONES
NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—After Nancy Oakes de Marigny had testified in behalf of her husband, the defence rested its case today in the trial De Marigny for murder in connection with the slaying of Sir Harry Oakes.

There was immediate overnight adjournment, on the motion of Godfrey Higgs, chief defence attorney.

The end of the testimony came in the 20th day of the trial in the Bahamas Supreme Court.

DE MARIGNY WEEPS

The 19-year-old, red-haired Nancy told of the relations between her father and her husband, who wept softly in the prisoner's cage as she started her testimony.

Pale and unsmiling, the eldest daughter of the slain multimillionaire went to the witness stand at 11:30 a.m. as the final defence witness at De Marigny's long trial for murder.

Clad in a black dress with tiny white dots and wearing white gloves, she stood erect in the witness stand and took the oath.

Then for the first time she looked at her handsome husband, who was seated in the cage-like prisoner's dock. Their eyes met for a long time, then Nancy turned away to answer Higgs' questions.

De Marigny leaned forward as he watched his pretty wife, a moment later he dropped his chin on his chest, covered his eyes with his handkerchief, and wept silently.

The girl was in the U.S. attending college at the time Sir Harry was bludgeoned and burned to death last July in a bedroom of his estate, Westbourne, but the defence called on her in an effort to offset the testimony of her mother, Lady Eunice Oakes, who appeared last week against De Marigny.

"Neither of us asked my parents' permission for our marriage," she said, telling how she was wed to the twice-divorced De Marigny at New York in the spring of 1942.

"I had hoped to discuss it with my mother, but I never did," she said, her voice so soft that jury foreman James Sands asked her to "speak a little louder, please."

HONEYMOON REVIEWED

Higgs led her through her honeymoon trip to Mexico, where she became gravely ill of typhoid fever.

"I wanted to pay my mother the money she advanced for medical expense," Nancy said. "I discussed it with my mother and transferred about $4,000 (about $17,000) to Alfred's account because my mother didn't want to accept the money from me directly."

By now, De Marigny had regained his composure and listened, a serious look on his face.

"After my illness, I was advised to live normally," Nancy continued.

"Was there any marital advice from the doctor?" asked Higgs.

"Only that I should live normally," Nancy replied.

Higgs brought out that the typhoid fever required some oral surgery, and explained there is some work still to be done.

Answering Higgs, Nancy said: "I discovered I was pregnant in the hospital in Mexico."

Nancy told of a dinner party March 27 at her home, at which her father, Sir Harry, and her brother, now Sir Sidney, were guests.

"Father was very jovial," she said, "until suddenly he jumped up and said he and Sidney must go."

"Alfred went with him to the front as he went to the car. There was a terrific uproar. My father was very shocking. We were all amazed and astounded."

Other witnesses have said that Sir Harry called De Marigny a "sex maniac" at the time.

Nancy said she went to the United States this year for a medical checkup, and remained until July.

"I was advised not to stay in Nassau for the operation because of the summer," she said.

She looked at the floor when Higgs questioned her about the word of her father's death, but quickly turned toward Higgs again.

TELLS OF DEATH

"On the eighth of July I received a cable from my husband informing me," she said. "The next day I left for Bar Harbor."

Her mother and her brothers and sisters were there.

Again her voice was so soft she hardly could be heard. She folded her hands on the witness stand rail. De Marigny stared at her, but he was calm after his one show of emotion.

Nancy said she had a telephone call from Capt. James O. Barker of the Miami police, who had been called by the Duke of Windsor to help solve the slaying.

"He said he couldn't tell the details on the phone," Nancy said. "But added there was no doubt who the guilty person is."

Nancy began to sob softly, and

Utopian Promises, As New Deal Losing Political Appeal; Foreign Policy Next Issue?

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA — Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. circles have begun the week speculating upon the possibility that dramatic changes may be impending in the Canadian political picture.

Specifically, the opposition groups profess to detect signs that the Mackenzie King cabinet has reached the conclusion that the New Deal twilight now falling over the United States ultimately will settle on Canada, too, and that it will be possible to fight the next general election, whether it comes after the war or earlier, on some other basis than three-party competition in the making of Utopian promises.

The hope which the government forces now are harboring, as Progressive Conservatives and C.C.F. observers read the handwriting on the political wall, is that it will be possible to raise a cry for an independent postwar foreign policy for Canada which will be, in effect, an up-to-the-minute version of the constitutional issue on which the present Liberal Prime Minister swept the country back in 1926.

IMPERIAL ISSUE

The clue which has stirred the opposition groups to vigilant watchfulness in the present situation is the energy with which the government, especially since the reverses suffered by the New Deal in the Republic, have been attempting to raise the issue of Canada's future Imperial relations.

It is pointed out by opposition sources that, without any warning, the government has been doing its best to raise to a discussion level the question of the extent to which Canada's postwar foreign policy will be the Dominion's own, to frame without any necessity for considering its degree of conformity or non-conformity with a common Empire foreign policy.

Evidences cited to support this interpretation include the address read some days ago from Prime Minister Mackenzie King to a foreign trade association meeting in New York, and an even more pointed speech by Minister Councillor L. B. Pearson of the Canadian legation in Washington to the English-speaking union in Chicago.

OWN FOREIGN POLICY

The opposition groups believe that this sudden raising of the Imperial issue is significant. They think it indicates that the federal ministers are disposed to take new political hope from the American people's apparent loss of interest in New Deal reform, and to believe now that it can escape the necessity of entering into rivalry with other parties in the making of Utopian promises by whipping up an issue of the Dominion's right to pursue its own path in foreign affairs, without becoming committed in any blanket Empire policy. Properly handled, this question can be built up to 1926 proportions, the government is said to believe.

It is an old maxim that it takes two to make a quarrel, and the attitude of both the Liberal Conservative and the C.C.F. parties is, according to high strategic sources—that they are not going to be forced to do battle on this issue, so long as they can avoid it. The memory of the 1926 election is still so fresh that the opposition groups have no desire to see it fought over again—with Mr. King having his choice of the side of the controversy which he will advocate.

Vancouver A.R.P. Men Would Protect Women

VANCOUVER (CP) — A.R.P. wardens could extend the work of their organization to include setting up a system of civilian patrol to protect Vancouver women from prowlers, a group of wardens agreed at an informal meeting Monday night.

Following the meeting letters suggesting such a scheme were sent to F.O. Fish, Chief Air Raid Warden, and to Mayor J. W. Cornett.

The plan is that in each residential block three male residents be appointed for each night to patrol in shifts of 1½ hours each between 7 p.m. and midnight.

$50 Rental Fine

VANCOUVER (CP) — Abram Krahn, convicted on a charge of receiving rent higher than legal under the Prices Board regulations, was fined $50 and $5 costs in police court Monday.

Forrest L. Shaw, city solicitor, active officer of the Victoria Club for the Hard-of-Hearing, has been chosen president of the Kiwanis Club for the next year. In club elections held today, Mr. Shaw was chosen by acclamation.

Lend-Lease Warehouse In Oakland Burned

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Little remained of a big Allied Nations Lend-Lease warehouse which went up in spectacular flames Monday night with considerable damage to stored truck and other equipment.

A fireman, William Chapman, 52, a veteran with the department, collapsed of smoke inhalation and died en route to a hospital. Cause of the fire was not determined.

The building was valued at $200,000. It adjoined the Chevrolet assembly plant, now engaged in war production. The war plant was not damaged.

Bag 3 Nazis

LONDON (CP) — Three German planes were destroyed Monday night as raiders gave London its seventh straight night alert while rescuers were still digging for victims of Sunday's dance hall bombing in which a large number of persons were killed.

Western Miners Defy Union Order Remain On Strike

CALGARY (CP) — Contrary to orders of district executive officers of the United Mine Workers of America, thousands of coal miners in Alberta and British Columbia were still on strike today.

A special meeting of the District 18 executive, with which local unions in both provinces are affiliated, will be held immediately, T. A. McCloy, district representative, said.

"The situation will be reviewed in view of the new developments," he said.

DRUMHELLER WORKS

The only large centre where miners have gone back to work is the Drumheller Valley. Every mine was reported operating there this morning, with the exception of the Hi-grade Mine, which was closed down when a full crew failed to show up for work.

Union officials at Drumheller said the men were prepared to work at all mines in the field and the Hi-grade Mine is expected to reopen tomorrow.

At a mass meeting of local unions of the Crows Nest Pass mines at Blairmore Monday, a majority of 1,250 miners voted to reject the settlement of the strike announced last Saturday.

Under the terms of the settlement, arranged at conferences in Ottawa between a delegation of the District 18, U.M.W.A. executive and Labor Minister Mitchell, all striking miners were to return to work Monday.

LETHBRIDGE AT WORK

Lethbridge mines were working full blast today in accordance with the "back-to-work" settlement. The Shagness mine of Lethbridge Collieries hoisted coal Monday, and miners at No. 8, across the river, took in their tools in preparation for work which was underway today.

Of the 2,500 union miners in British Columbia, only 150 at small workings at Interior Princeton were working. Those on Vancouver Island were still off work. The island miners have a meeting scheduled for tonight for further discussion of the situation.

SCHOOLS MAY CLOSE

EDMONTON (CP) — The majority of Edmonton schools will have to close if the general coal strike of Alberta and British Columbia miners continues into next week, J. M. McAfee, school plant superintendent, said today.

Schools have only enough coal to last this week.

The city's power plant supply now is down to 3,400 tons, with about 300 tons a day being consumed, R. G. Watson, superintendent, said. About 4,000 tons of coal from outside the city is expected sometime this week, but even this will take seven or eight days to deliver, he added.

The railways are "carrying on," officials reported, and there has been no curtailment of railway service because of the strike, nor is there any danger of curtailment unless the strike is indefinitely prolonged.

W. M. Flavelle Dies

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP)—William M. Flavelle, 90, president of Flavelle's Ltd., Lindsay, and brother of the late Sir Joseph Flavelle, died Monday at the Ross Memorial Hospital here. He was for many years president of the Victoria Loan and Savings Co. Surviving him are his wife, Mary Helen Aird Flavelle, four sons and two daughters.

Soprano Gets $120,000

Air Cadet Officers To Receive Pay

OTTAWA (CP) — Officers of the Air Cadet Corps, now a component of the R.C.A.F., will receive pay and allowances for service relating to cadet training duties and for attendance at instructional courses, the Air Cadet League of Canada announces.

More than 1,000 officers will receive pay under the new ruling, made by order-in-council. The air cadets number nearly 24,000 in about 350 squadrons.

Recently the R.C.A.F. announced the granting of King's commissions to air-cadet corps officers.

Pay will be authorized up to a maximum of 40 days in any one year for attendance at squadron parades and provision is made for an additional 15 days' pay for attending a course of instruction.

Pay is to be at the following rates per day: Pilot officer, $3; flying officer, $3.60; flight lieutenant, $3.20; squadron leader, $6.50.

The order-in-council also covers payment of an outfit allowance of $150 to each officer on appointment to assist in the purchase of uniform and accessories.

Subsidy On Lumber For Storage Buildings

OTTAWA (CP)—Farmers who find new buildings essential for storing grain or housing livestock have been protected against higher lumber prices, effective in August, through payment of a 10 per cent consumer subsidy by the Prices Stability Corporation, a branch of the Prices Board, officials said today.

The Prices Board ruling says "any civilian purchasing lumber for use in assisting the primary production of essential foods is eligible for a consumer subsidy."

Timber control authorities said many subsidy applications are being received from western Canada. The subsidy is also payable to fishermen, co-operators, unincorporated associations and incorporated farms.

Education is compulsory with us. Why should they be exempt or is it beyond their capacity?

SOOK'S MEDIC

With regard to an item appearing in your issue of Nov. 1, in which Dr. Amyot is reported to have stated that the situation in Sook, re medical care, is no worse than it was, but that a medical health officer might shortly be found for the district, it would be interesting to know where Dr. Amyot obtains his information and it is time that the real facts were stated.

The situation in Sook became very much worse after Dr. Brown left, and for months we were dependent on the medical officer of the near-by military camp. Finally, the Women's Auxiliary to the Sook Branch, Canadian Legion, took the matter up and through the initiative of one of its members obtained the part-time services of a doctor, who he opened an office here which he attends Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, both afternoon and evening.

It is somewhat late in the day to say that a medical health officer may shortly be found for us. Of course, a resident doctor would be preferable to the present arrangements, but let it be emphasized that they are working very well and are entirely due to the public spirit of the Legion W.A. and its members.

Churchill Warns Britain New Assaults May Come

LONDON (CP)—The text of Prime Minister Churchill's Mansion House address today:

I thank you wholeheartedly for all your kindness, for the wealth of your welcome and for the complimentary terms in which you, my Lord Mayor, have commended His Majesty's government to the goodwill of the City of London.

This is the fourth of your annual festivals which I have attended since the war began and I confess it seems to me they have all been milestones in our journey.

In November, 1940, when we were quite alone in the midst of the blitz, I had occasion to repeat to the nations that were overrun by the Germans our British pledge that we would never abandon the struggle until every one of our islands had been liberated from the Nazi yoke. I see no reason to modify that statement today.

In 1941 I gave solemn warning to the Japanese government that if they went to war with the United States we should immediately declare war on them. Well, we got on with that.

Last year, in 1942, I thought I was right to say that I did not consider it any part of my duty to liquidate the British Empire. I do not conceal from you that I hold the same opinion today.

Since we last gathered here we and our Allies have had a year of almost unbroken victory in every theatre and on every front.

British, Dominion and United States armies have cleared Africa of the enemy. The British and United States forces have conquered Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica and one-third of Italy.

Shattering Damage By Aerial Warfare

We have broken the back of the U-boat war which at one time seemed our greatest peril. We have inflicted shattering damage and we are inflicting shattering damage upon German cities which are centres of munitions production, and this has caused an injury to the German war effort and to German morale which combined with other blows may well be the precursor of decisive events in the European struggle.

In all these operations on land, on sea and in the air, Great Britain has had the honor to bear the greatest part and pay a heavy price.

In the Pacific where the main forces of the United States have been deployed, and where Americans, Australians, and New Zealanders are fighting together under the inspiring leadership of Gen. MacArthur, many brilliant actions have been recorded and the strength of Japan has been steadily and remorselessly worn down.

But I affirm, indeed and am glad to proclaim, that the outstanding event of this famous year has been the glorious advance of the Russian army from the Volga westward across the Dnieper, thus liberating, as Marshal Stalin has told us, two-thirds of occupied Russian soil from foul invader.

In this process Russian Soviet armies have inflicted deep and dire injury upon the whole life and structure of German military power. That monstrous juggernaut engine of German might and tyranny has been beaten and broken, outflanked and outmanoeuvred by Russian valor, generalship and science and it has been beaten to an extent which may well prove mortal.

We and our American allies have done and are doing our best to bring our forces across sea and ocean into action against the enemy, and I rate the Anglo-American air attack on Germany as one of the prime causes of the extending ruin of the Hitler regime, but it must never be forgotten that there was nothing in the whole world nor could there have been created for several years any military organism which could ever have given or survived the losses which Russia has borne.

Here in the City of London at our time-honored gathering we salute the Soviet armies and Marshal Stalin. My Lord Mayor we have all been cheered by the result of the Moscow conference to which you referred in your speech and we look forward to welcoming back in the next week or so our Foreign Secretary from his most successful mission.

Secretary Hull 'Gallant Eagle'

There is no doubt that the full and frank discussion between the three foreign ministers, Mr. Molotov, Mr. Eden and that gallant American Eagle, Mr. Hull who flew far on strong wings, has had the effect of making our Russian friends feel that they have never felt before that it is the heartfelt wish of the British and American nations to fight the war out with them in loyal allegiance and afterwards to work with them on a basis of mutual respect and comradeship in the resettlement and rebuilding of this tormented and distracted world.

I have not abandoned hope that some time or other it may be possible for the heads of the three governments to meet together because all my experience in this war shows that friendly and trustful personal contacts between responsible leaders are the best foundations for all plans, whether for war or for peace.

In our grand alliance of 33 states or governments constituting the United Nations, we try all we can by correspondence and consultation to preserve harmony and intimacy, and to procure concerted action. As you may well imagine, it is not possible to consult with every member about details of all military movements or plans. This must be confined to a few persons as possible.

The high aims we set before ourselves were first outlined in the Atlantic Charter, and now we have published in Moscow the all-important four-power agreement which looks to the future foundation of world peace after the storms are over.

There are many in our thoughts today. We hope that France will rise again to true greatness, and will play a worthy part in shaping the progress of Europe and the world. I rejoice in every increase of unity and consolidation that I notice in the French National Committee at Algiers, and I also rejoice at the growing power of the French armies which are being recreated and retrained in North Africa, and which will presently take their share in liberation of the soil of France from the most hateful forms of human bondage.

French Committee Trustee for People

The French National Committee are not the owners, but the trustees of the title deeds of France. These must be restored to the French nation when freedom is achieved, for it is only on the will of the people freely expressed, under conditions of reasonable tranquility, that in France, as in other enslaved countries, any permanent structure can be raised.

A great many people speak as if the end of the war in Europe were near. I hope, indeed, that they may prove right.

For certainly every month this devastating struggle continues carries human sorrow into deeper depths, more toll and lengthened burden of recovery.

We should, however, be foolish and blameworthy if we allowed our plans and actions to be based upon the prospect of an early collapse in Germany.

There is danger in anything which diverts the thoughts and efforts of any of the Allied nations from the supreme task which lies before them, namely, that of beating down into dust and ruin the deadly foes and tyrants who so nearly subjugated the entire world to their domination.

I am myself proceeding on the assumption that the campaign of 1944 in Europe will be the most severe and to the western Allies the most costly in lives of any we have yet fought, and we must all brace ourselves for that task and strain every nerve for its successful accomplishment.

This is no time for relaxation or of thoughts on the joys of peace and victory. Hitler still has 400 divisions under his command or control. He has a party police force which gives him a grip on the agonized and regimented people of Germany incomparably stronger than anything which was at the disposal of the late Kaiser.

Under this odious Nazi system children still betray to their teachers and thus to the police any incautious remarks that their fathers and mothers may have used in their presence.

Hitler and his guilty confederates know their lives are at stake and that at any rate run no extra risk in making other people fight on to the bitter end. German troops, wherever they have been found, fight with veteran skill. Hazards of great battles lie before us. We cannot, moreover, exclude the possibility of new forms of attacks upon this island. We have been vigilantly watching for many months past for every sign of preparation for such an attack. Whatever happens, they will not be of a nature to affect the final course of the war.

But should they come they will certainly call for the utmost efficiency and devotion in our firewatching and home guard and also for a further display of firmness and fortitude for which the British nation has won renown.

This is no time to relax in all our precautions or to discourage our splendid auxiliary services. This is no time to divide the unity of the nation by raising various party political issues. This is not the time for persons who have practical war work to do to dream easy dreams of brave new worlds. We must keep our sense of proportion even when discussing incidents of procedure in some of our juvenile courts.

We must not lose for a moment the sense and consciousness of urgency and crisis which must continue to drive us even though we are in the fifth year of war. We must go forward with unrelenting and unwearying effort through every living minute that is granted us.

This government came together with the sole policy of making war until victory is won. We cannot today exclude from our minds nor need we do so the conviction that victory will certainly be won and that not only Germany but Japan will be forced into unconditional surrender.

We have no need to exclude that from our mind but that does not mean that our war task is done. Another tremendous and practical duty is involved in what is called winning the war, just as in time of peace plans for war and measures of defence ought to be in readiness everywhere for an emergency, so in the tide of war we must make sure that confusion and chaos do not follow the victory of armies or stultify a surrender unexpectedly early by the enemy.

Now I regard it as a definite part of the duty and responsibility of this national government to have it set about a vast and practical scheme to make sure that in the years immediately following the war there will be food, work and home for all. No grudging, no party doctrines or party prejudices or vested interests shall stand in the way of the simple duty of providing before the end of the war for food, work and home.

They must be prepared now during the war. Each plan must be prepared and must come into action, just like when a war breaks out general mobilization is declared, and must come into action as soon as victory is won.

On this far-reaching work His Majesty's government are now concentrating all the energies that can be spared from the actual struggle with the enemy. The policy of waging war for victory would be incomplete and indeed soiled if it were not accompanied by a policy of food, work and home in the period following victory for the men and women of the fighting forces.

I regard this hour as at once more hopeful and more stirring than any through which we have passed.

It is a reasonable assumption that unless we make some grave mistake in strategy, the year 1944 will see the climax of the European war.

Greatest Sacrifice Of Life to Come

Unless some happier event occurs on which we have no right to count and the hand of providence is directed by some crowning mercy, then 1944 will see the greatest sacrifice of life by the British and American armies and battles far larger and more costly than Waterloo or Gettysburg will be fought.

Sorrow will come to many homes in the United Kingdom and throughout the great republic of the United States. British and American manhood—true brothers-in-arms—will rise to the attack and grapple with their deadly foes.

This year of 1944 is also election year in the United States. A strange coincidence, but I am sure I speak for all those on both sides of the Atlantic who mean the same thing—and they are numbered in scores of millions—when I say that our supreme duty, all of us, British and Americans alike, is to preserve the good will that now exists throughout the English-speaking world and thus aid our armies in their grim and heavy task.

If things are said in one country or another which are provocative, which are clumsy, indiscreet or even malicious and untrue, there should be no angry rejoinder.

If facts have to be stated, let them be stated without heat or bitterness.

We have to give our mind in full to the vast task and that is the thought which must dominate all our speech and action. Not only the fortunes of this fearful war but also the happiness of future generations depends upon the fraternal association of Great Britain and the United States within, and without prejudice to, the larger world structure that will be erected to secure the peace and freedom of mankind.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
Fuehrer Hitler in his rat-in-the-corner speech in the Munich beer hall, Monday, challenged the Allies to open a second front in Europe, which likely was an answer to Premier Stalin's promise last Saturday that the second front "is not far off."

Since such invasion talk is in the air and, in fact, has all Europe tingling with inquisition, this would seem to be a good time to answer a couple of questions I've received from newspaper editors. They naturally reflect reader interest in this consuming subject.

One editor wants to know why, if the Allied air forces are able to do such enormous damage to Hamburg and other German cities, those same bombers can't destroy the Hitlerite defences over hundreds of square miles on the French coast and thus pave the way for the landing of a great army in the immediate future without undue loss.

BASIC STRATEGY
Well, that certainly is a legitimate query and it puts a finger on the basic tactics on which the Allies will depend when they get ready for the great adventure across the English Channel. The answer is that the Anglo-American air navies in Europe could do the job.

Having said this, however, it must be pointed out that up until recently neither the British nor the U.S. fleet was strong enough for such an undertaking—or to do round-the-clock, big-scale bombing of German cities, for that matter. I'd hate to have to

Germany's Impending Ruin

SANDWICHED AMONG SEVERAL important statements which fell from the lips of Mr. Churchill at the Lord Mayor's inaugural luncheon in London today were two allusions to the progress of the war which should be carefully noted, not only for their relation to Adolf Hitler's speech in Munich yesterday, but also because of stock exchange reactions to rumors of early peace. One evidently reflected the Prime Minister's belief in the "impending ruin" of Germany, and the other took the form of a warning that defeat of the Nazis could not come before 1944.

Apart from the Fuehrer's repetition of phrases to which the world has grown accustomed, some passages in his bear hall dissertation can be taken at their face value, especially his declaration that Nazi soldiery will fight fanatically to the end. "I know that I demand the apparent impossibility of the battlefield," ranted the former Austrian corporal, "but this almost impossible must force a decision in our favor." How fanatically the Germans will fight, of course, will depend upon a collection of imponderables on which neither Hitler's intuition nor Mr. Churchill's knowledge of today's facts is able to shed any clear light. But while the head of the Reich tells his people that it is impossible for him to "lose his nerve," the Prime Minister placed particular emphasis on his personal assumption that "the campaign of 1944 in Europe will be the most severe and most costly to the Allies yet fought"—and unless they fall prey to some grave error, victory is certain.

The Nazi dictator, of course, is whistling to keep up his courage. He knows what is threatening him from without; but he is obviously fearful of the uncertain number of individuals within the Reich whose mental defeatism may subsequently take sinister and material form. He and his gang are like rats in the corner; of their ferocity to the end we may be sure. So Mr. Churchill is wise to warn against every form of complacency at this stage of the conflict. Furthermore, the German people have been indoctrinated with the belief that military defeat inevitably means consequences immeasurably worse than the Treaty of Versailles was intended to exact. And until any substantial element sees through this type of propaganda, the vicious character of the war to which Mr. Churchill alludes had better be expected.

On the other hand, incidentally, the prognosticators will now be at liberty to toy with the meaning the Prime Minister intended or did not intend to impart to the word "impending." Even the most optimistic is not expecting defeat of the Nazis to come "before 1944." But the people of the United Nations can afford to leave the time element to the unfolding events. Mr. Churchill's speech will not help the Fuehrer and his gang; they know they are beaten but refuse to admit it. The fifth winter of the war is upon them; and 1944 is not far off.

Up In The Air

GLITTERING GENERALITIES BAM-boozle some people some of the time; but he or she who uses them for political effect often underestimates the intelligence of an audience. For example, Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, C.C.F. member of the Legislature for North Vancouver, told the Social Problems Club of the University of British Columbia last Friday that the "main issue between the C.C.F., Liberals and Conservatives is not between public ownership of industry and free enterprise, but between irresponsible economic power and responsible economic power." To which she added:

"The irresponsible power is the power of great companies to hold up inventions that would bring down the price to consumers. The C.C.F. aim is that economic control and planning be placed with the representatives of the people generally, an overall economic plan for the nation, planned by experts."

As Mrs. Steeves and her colleagues are constantly crying from the housetops that they, and they only, represent the people, it is to be assumed that they also are the "experts" to whom would be entrusted the economic control and planning. In which case, perhaps, she can be a little more specific and explain just how the C.C.F. proposes to do it—by expropriation or liquidation of the "great companies" of which she speaks? And, incidentally, does the lady member for North Vancouver realize that many of the inventions whose benefits the people enjoy today were made possible through the research carried on by those organizations to which she and her friends evidently are so allergic?

Womanpower

THE WOMEN'S BRANCHES OF THE armed services continue to call for volunteers. It is important that women should enlist in larger numbers, for the manpower shortage is to a considerable extent a womanpower shortage. Every woman who enters one of the services releases a man for combat duty, or makes unnecessary the calling up of a father of a young family or a man with other dependents.

Representative Clare Luce said the other day the trouble is that women themselves have not been given the job of getting the message across. She was speaking of the situation in the United States, but what she says applies also to Canada. Here, as there, the men in command of the war program have not made clear enough to women the urgency of the womanpower shortage. The appeal to women to enlist has been slanted too much to a glamour basis.

Women have perhaps a greater stake than men in early victory and they are as sensitive as men to the patriotic appeal. Such an appeal, if it were made in realistic terms by women to women, should bring a much larger response. The experience of Britain serves to bear this out. Over there women, heeding the call of duty to country, are crowding every branch of the services open to them, in addition to filling 40 to 60 per cent of the jobs in war industries. It would be ungenerous to think that Canadian women would not respond equally as well if the hard facts were made clear to them that their country needs them—urgently.

His Threat Made Good

LATEST PICTURES OF THE EFFECTS of Allied bombings of the Reich's industrial communities are giving the public a convincing idea of what air power on its present scale is really capable. They reveal that whole areas are literally levelled, the remains of buildings—distinguishable only by heaps of rubble, with streets and vacant spaces pock-marked by huge craters. Unless the Germans possess miraculous facilities for renovation and reconstruction—which are not yet apparent—few of these devastated districts can hope to be of further service to the Nazi war machine.

Of special significance is the fact that the Nazi oligarchy has told the people in unequivocal terms that no community within the territorial confines of the Reich can any longer be considered a "safe place." Interest attaches to this warning, too, not only because it reflects an official recognition of realities, but also because the German high command at last has learned that Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris has lived up to his promise. The head of the Bomber Command took the air on July 28, 1942, to issue this threat:

"We are going to scourge the Reich from end to end. In comparison with what it will be like as soon as our own production of bombers comes to flood and as American production doubles and then redoubles, all that has happened so far will seem very little. You have no chance. Soon we shall be coming every night and every day, rain, blow or snow—we and the Americans. It is up to you to end the war and the bombing. You can overthrow the Nazis and make peace."

The skeptics were inclined to doubt whether Sir Arthur could live up to that program. It took time; the diversion of many aircraft to assist in the Battle of Tunisia slowed down the plan somewhat. But for months past the enemy has known that the head of Bomber Command was not talking through his hat. Moreover, few in the Reich will disregard his latest pronouncement. Said he, "somewhere in Northamptonshire," last Saturday:

"We propose entirely to emasculate every centre of enemy production, 40 of which are centres vital to his war effort, and 50 that can be termed considerably important. We are well on the way towards their destruction."

It may take several months to complete the "mopping up" process from the air as far as industrial communities are concerned. Climatic vagaries still influence aerial operations to a considerable extent. But any acceleration of the present virtual round-the-clock schedule, enhanced as it is under a new technique of complete fighter protection to and from daylight targets, will add point to Berlin's own reminder that the whole Reich is now vulnerable. And to add to this constant aerial threat from all quarters is the oncoming Russian steamroller, plus Marshal Stalin's assurance that a real second front is "not behind the hills"—meaning that it is not far off.

Unpopular War Coins

THE NEW ZINC-COATED STEEL pennies—584,000,000 of them—which were turned out by the United States mint in order to conserve copper for war purposes have proved so unpopular that their production has been stopped. The treasury has ordered a return to copper pennies, to be made of the metal of cartridge cases salvaged from army firing ranges.

The five-cent pieces with twelve-sided rims, minted in Canada out of a copper alloy in order to save nickel, have been proving similarly unpopular. They so closely resemble in size and color the one-cent copper piece that one cannot always be distinguished readily from the other.

The zinc-steel United States one-cent coin, it seems, is passing for a 10-cent piece. Over here, conversely, the copper-colored duodecagonal "nickel" slips by as a one-cent copper. Naturally, the confusion in the case of both is annoying to the persons who find themselves on the short end of the transactions. There is a rising demand that Canada promptly abandon the copper nickel as the United States is now abandoning the steel cent. At any rate, it may be said that with stock piles of strategic war metals such as copper and nickel now mounting, the critical shortages responsible for these coin experiments no longer obtain.

The old Upper Canada's Lord's Day Act under which the recent prosecutions were launched against farmers getting in their wartime harvest is absurd enough, without the statement that under it people of Ontario are forbidden to bathe on Sunday. What it does forbid, according to the Toronto Star, is bathing "in any exposed position in any water within the limits of any incorporated city or town or within view of any place of public worship or private residence." That is bad enough, as blue laws go, but it does not forbid taking a bath.

IF WAR ENDS BY SPRING

POLITICALLY IMMORTAL as a cat with nine lives, and asbestos in his resistance to political fire, Mr. Mackenzie King now requires all his own resources and a renewal of his old luck. It does not seem likely that Mr. King wants another term of office for himself, or that he would care to lead the government for long after the war is won. But he is determined to represent Canada in the shaping of the peace and he will certainly attempt to time the next election to fit in with this plan.

That may well be the factor which will prevent an election next year. If the war ends in Europe by the spring, presumably some sort of a peace conference will be held by next summer. Mr. King could go to it in that case without seeking a renewal of power. He would have a perfect right to represent Canada, agree to a peace treaty and then submit it to Parliament a year before the legal end of his parliamentary term.

Why, therefore, risk a doubtful election, a serious interruption of war business before then? He will risk it only if the political prospects improve enormously and only if he has a clear-cut issue on which to appeal to the voters. If no such issue arises there will be no election in a hurry.

FENCE SITTER

Meanwhile, the clarion calls to arm and prepare for instant action which are going out from the Progressive Conservative Party are merely designed to get the re-organization of the party under way, and also to justify Mr. Bracken in his refusal to enter Parliament. So long as he can say an election is coming soon he can also say that it is not worth having a by-election meanwhile.

It is freely admitted here that the government's stock is at an all-time low. If there were an election today doubtless the government could not secure anything like a majority. The Liberal politicians insist that things will change under Mr. King's well-known wizardry and under the influence of an election issue.

This may be more wishful thinking. The government may be burned out with age and strain. But no one here who knows about such things believes for a moment that anyone else can secure a majority either. The C.C.F. certainly would claim no such result and when Mr. Graydon, the charming House leader of the Progressive Conservative party, talks glibly about a majority over all for his group out of the West he is merely uttering the polite absurdities of the game and expects to be taken with a ton of salt.

All in all, we seem to be in for a most curious, uncertain and difficult time in our politics once an election is held. But no one has called an election yet and we had better keep our shirts on.

A GREAT PIANIST PLAYS

AFTER LUNCH I had here last week with Yehudi Menuhin and Adolph Baller, his accompanist. Mr. Baller suggested that he would like to try out the piano prior to the evening concert.

From the moment he sat down and the first chord sounded, we were lost. He plays exquisitely, his forte passages magnificently clear and almost brutal in their strength. He colors his music in much the same way as a good watercolor artist mixes strong dark colors, and yet magically retains a clean transparency.

The Chopin piece scintillated, showing another facet to the pianist's extraordinary ability—the quick, delicate rippling arpeggios were invested with an ethereal lightness.

Chatting in a friendly manner as he played, Mr. Baller told us the story of Moussorgsky's "The Great Gate of Kiev," last in the series of "Pictures at an Exhibition."

"There is no gate, of course," he said with a shrug of the shoulders, "it is purely a fantasy. But Moussorgsky pictured a great turreted gateway with gay-coated soldiers prancing through on horseback amidst the peal of Russian bells from nearby cathedrals."

And how well did the pianist bring out the bells' wild harmonies, fretted against the masses of tone that mounted to a majestic crescendo!

Adolph Baller is Polish, and five years ago was hailed as the greatest concert pianist in Vienna. Since the occupation of his country he has been in America, for the past two years with Menuhin.

The 33-year-old composer-pianist told me his mother and many of his friends have suffered at the hands of the Nazis during the invasion of Poland. He does not know what has become of his mother yet.

"The block of granite which was an obstacle in the pathway of the weak, becomes a stepping-stone in the pathway of the strong."—Thomas Carlyle.

CHURCHILLIAN MODE ON TRIAL

LONDON.

MACHINERY OF THE British

Government is under study, has been for a year. The Cabinet, in fact, has planned a reorganization to meet postwar demands.

That disclosure came in the midst of clamor for a statement on the methods by which the government proposes to meet the problem of peace, demobilization, the now famous Beveridge report, controls of industry, the press, and life itself.

It came as a surprise for, as the Manchester Guardian grumbles in a biting article, "Nobody outside the government knew of the existence of such a (cabinet) committee until today. Apparently it has been sitting for a year."

It came, too, as a possible fore-runner into action that might satisfy the thirst of press and public for tangible indications of government intentions.

There was support in parliamentary circles for the suggestion that it might lead to the appointment of a cabinet minister to take supreme command of postwar planning.

At present the nearest approach to that is Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee, who in the recent cabinet shuffle succeeded to the chair of the Home Affairs Committee.

Belief was that the revamped machinery would neither hire nor fire men, but more precisely define their duties. Functions of Sir William Jowitt, minister without portfolio, and W. S. Morrison, Minister of Town and Country Planning, were considered liable to clarification.

Sir William admitted recently that his role was that of co-ordinator of postwar plans only. He could not initiate.

Some more direct form of control and responsibility now is sought with the object, it is believed, of meeting Prime Minister Churchill's desire to streamline his government.

It might also meet such tart press comment as that of the Economist that "the Churchillian mode of government is on trial." The Economist's quarrel was with the Prime Minister's all-powerful position, which restricted other ministers. Citing the case of Mr. Attlee and the home affairs committee, it said "the apparatus (for postwar action) is there. What it lacks is power to move, and in the present government the starting signal can only come from one source, the Prime Minister."

THE NEW CHANCELLOR

OPINIONS on Sir John Anderson, who became Chancellor of the Exchequer on the death of Sir Kingsley Wood:

Sir Herbert Williams, Conservative M.P.: "An ex-civil servant of undefined quality."

The Week, a leftist paper: "He had become (as Lord President of the Council) a gigantic-maid-of-all-work. . . . Being steadily and patiently groomed for a position of still greater importance."

Sir Herbert complained before the central council of the National Union of Conservatives and Unionists' Associations that the Cabinet shuffle had left the government with no Conservative concerned with economic matters.

Dr. Felton Speaks To Local Council

Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, addressed the Local Council of Women, Monday, at the Y.W.C.A. on the importance of individual participation in health.

He stressed the necessity of not leaving the entire burden of this community effort on the public health department.

Ventilation, sanitation, garbage collecting were dealt with by Dr. Felton, who suggested that people be educated to the unsanitary condition of spitting, against which there is no law except in vehicles and streetcars.

Weddings

POAPS—JONES

In Victorian mode was the wedding gown of satin striped silver lame worn by Margaret Maureen Vickers Jones for her marriage Saturday afternoon at Christ Church, Stanstead, Que., to Philip McLean Poaps. The bride is the elder daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Jones, 1029 Beach Drive, Oak Bay, and the groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Poaps, Rock Island, Que. Rev. F. W. Mitchell performed the ceremony, and "The Voice That Breathed O' Eden" was sung during the signing of the register.

Lt. Cmdr. James Adam of Ottawa, Ont., gave the bride in marriage, and her gown was fashioned with a bouffant skirt and heart-shaped neckline. Tiny sprays of orange blossom caught her veil of heirloom rosepoint lace lined with French illusion net, and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias. In place of the usual bridesmaids the bride was attended by pageboys dressed in white satin. Walter Scott was best man, while John Poaps and John Searth ushered.

Rescued Sailors Need Stockings

Satisfactory response has been received from the public to the Navy League's appeal for medicated stockings, but more are required.

This special type of knitted stocking is later impregnated with vaseline and is for the use of rescued sailors, and a supply placed in lifeboats and rafts. When the feet and legs have been immersed for any length of time in cold water, as is the case in a shipwreck, the blood stream is broken down, and if the circulation cannot be restored gangrene sets in and amputation is necessary.

These stockings were developed by Surgeon-Capt. C. H. Best, the codiscoverer with the late Sir Frederick Banting, of insulin. In this good work particular thanks are due to the War Services Club of David Spencer Ltd. and the Beaver Club of the Hudson's Bay Company. Other organizations and individuals desirous of knitting these stockings can obtain information from the War Comforts branch of the Navy League, 1236 Government Street, (over the Royal Canadian Navy recruiting office), daily except Saturday, from 9.30 to 11.30, and obtain the necessary wool free of charge, if so desired.

DITTY BAGS

Organizations and individual persons who have contributed to supplying of sailors' ditty bags for Christmas will be interested to know that shipment to the naval and marine authorities is now being taken in hand for distribution to naval ratings and merchant seamen on active sea duty, at isolated stations and those in hospitals at Christmas. Sailors at home stations or barracks do not receive ditty bags.

SURVIVORS' BUNDLES

Quota of 135 survivors' bundles completed by the War Services Club of David Spencer Ltd. have been sent out to the naval authorities. These bundles are placed on all escort vessels for use of rescued sailors when taken out of the water and consist of a complete outfit of clothing, underwear and toilet necessities.

WAR WORK DEMANDS THIS Vitality Element

NO OTHER NATURAL CEREAL GIVES IT SO RICHLY

With less meat today, wise women are happy to know that by serving Quaker Oats for breakfast, they can give their hard-working family a rich source of meat's main element—protein. No other natural cereal is so rich in this vital factor for energy and growth as whole-grain oatmeal. And it is richest of all natural cereals in Vitamin B, needed for sound nerves and energy! No wonder more families than ever are calling delicious, hot breakfasts of Quaker Oats daily a "must" for wartime diets.

Women's Part In Training Plan to Amaze History

Air Chief Commandant Katharine J. Trefusius Forbes, C.B.E., didn't miss a thing when she inspected the R.C.A.F. (W.D.) at Patricia Bay, Monday. In the above picture she talks with Group Capt. G. R. McGregor, O.B.E., D.F.C., C.O. of the R.C.A.F. at Patricia Bay while Wing Officer Willa Walker, officer commanding the R.C.A.F. (W.D.) in Canada, who has accompanied her cross country, looks on.

High spot of this morning's visit to the Belmont Building was a tour of the operations room where Air Commandant Forbes chatted informally with girls of the W.D. She told them how lucky they were to have such spacious and comfortable quarters compared to those in England where shortages have forced cutting down on many things. After a visit to the Balmoral Leave Centre the chief of Britain's Wafes toured the city returning to No. 2 Group Headquarters for lunch.

Members of her party were Group Capt. E. C. Luke, senior

This afternoon Air Commandant Forbes inspected the air force girls in residence at Kildonan House, Foul Bay Road, after which she toured the residence and barracks block.

"All of you are responsible for keeping the air crews going," she said during a talk in the recreation room. "Your part in the Commonwealth Air Training Plan will amaze history."

"Do you want to go to England?" the air chief commandant asked and was answered by "yes," in chorus.

"Then you must get more airwomen recruits for Canada," she continued. "Only by enlarging the service will you be able to serve overseas. In the meantime, don't let where you are serving worry you. Your job at home in Canada is equally important."

Following tea at Kildonan House Air Chief Commandant Forbes and her party returned to the city. Air Chief Commandant Forbes with her party inspected the Y.W.C.A. hostess house at Sidney Monday afternoon.

Greeted by Mrs. J. T. Harper, wife of Lt. Col. Harper, now overseas, and Mrs. J. B. Ellis, co-hostesses, Britain's top Wafes, remarked she had just heard they were "on duty 24 hours a day, and always at everyone's beck and call." She then toured the house learning that it is headquarters for the remake centre, baby clinic and all the clubs of the Sidney servicemen's wives, including the R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. auxiliaries.

In the living room Air Commandant Forbes chatted with a group of wives with their young babies just arrived to attend the baby clinic conducted by Miss K. V. Ellis, R.N., provincial public health nurse. Among the Victorians with whom she spoke were Mrs. Morris Pelletier and Mrs. A. Hewko.

Before returning to Victoria late in the afternoon, Air Commandant Forbes and her party paid an informal call at the R.A.F. station where they had tea.

Abandoned Slabwood To Be Discussed

Regional wood fuel officers and E. W. Bourque, western representative of the wood fuel controller will be here Thursday to discuss with Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, the movement of a large supply of dry slabwood discovered on abandoned tie-mill sites in the canal flats district, near Cranbrook.

"If we can complete negotiations with the B.C. government, between 200,000 and 300,000 cords of slabwood will become accessible," Mr. Bourque said.

The tie-mill sites were discovered recently when Mr. Bourque and W. C. Stevens, in charge of

Wage Classification Will Cost $11,000

Classification and standardization of City Hall employees in the salary schedule prepared by a special three-man commission will cost the taxpayers $11,000 annually, D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, estimated at a council committee meeting Monday afternoon.

He said the difference between the present salaries and the maximum set out in the report was $15,118.20, but since not all members of the staff would draw the full increments suggested in the schedule the actual annual increase in salaries would be only $11,000.

After considering for almost an hour the report presented to the council Oct. 18, the committee, on motion of Ald. Archie Willis, a second time, tabled the report to hear the three commissioners, L. A. Grogan, chairman, and W. M. Black and E. W. Ismay. The motion was passed by a nine-to-two vote.

Ald. Willis said there were certain questions about the report that he felt the commission should be asked to answer.

Previously Ald. W. H. Davies had moved the council endorse the report as it stood and Ald. Percy George had moved the council endorse the report in principle and ask the permanent personnel committee to convene immediately to make recommendations.

Mayor Andrew McGavin had said he would ask the report be accepted.

Exception to the recommendation that the parks superintendent serve on the permanent personnel committee with the city controller, engineer, assessor, collector and solicitor was taken by Mayor McGavin, who said the parks superintendent was an outside employee unfamiliar with problems of the inside staff.

Ald. Ed. Williams suggested the council adopt the report in principle and send it to department heads for revision.

He had previously asked the council to consider a salary increase of $45 for the city building inspector who, he said, had been offered a government job at $120 a month more than he was now receiving. By a six-to-five vote the council endorsed Ald. Williams' motion.

Asked by Ald. Williams what the council would do with those employees who were now receiving more than the maximum set out in the report, Mayor McGavin said they would have to take less money. Only a few salary cuts were recommended.

F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, was granted leave to go to Ottawa, at the expense of the Dominion government, to attend a committee meeting on placement of return servicemen in civilian life.

Controllers Here Form Association

South Vancouver Island branch of the B.C. Association of Controllers and Chief Wardens came into existence Monday afternoon at a meeting at the Esquimalt Municipal Hall. The branch organization will meet monthly following meetings of the provincial body to discuss A.R.P. questions.

Represented at the meeting Monday were all areas south of Shawnigan Lake. Capt. E. D. W. Levien, Saanich controller, was named secretary, and Chief H. W. V. Pecknold of Esquimalt occupied the chair. Each controller in turn will serve as chairman.

Others present were Insp. A. H. Bishop, Victoria controller; Col. W. S. Latta, Parliament Buildings controller; A. S. G. Musgrave, Oak Bay controller; Edward Durling, Esquimalt; J. W. Pilgrim and J. H. C. Palmer, View Royal, and F. J. Baker, Sidney.

district No. 3, reached the Cranbrook area on an extensive tour of the interior.

Mr. Bourque, who returned from the tour Sunday, said that the wood fuel situation in B.C. is no longer critical.

Chlorination Plebiscite Asked By Citizens Group

Anti-chlorinationists of Greater Victoria for three hours Monday night discussed affects of chlorination on health and on septic tanks which they said would be made useless when water in this district becomes chlorinated.

Several resolutions were unanimously passed, one creating an organization to be known as the Victoria Anti-Chlorination League, another asking the Mayor and City Council to submit a plebiscite to the people at next month's election, and a third asking that the Mayor and City Council give permission to John Day to check up on conditions at the Japan Gulch intake.

Jack Loutet, ex-reeve of North Vancouver and former M.L.A., said that since chlorination in Vancouver there is more illness than has been the case in many years. People are now not drinking enough water, he said.

"Medical health people are going to kill everything in the water and they don't care what happens to you afterward," he said, adding that to certain doctors people are not human beings, but guinea pigs.

Mr. Loutet said that enforced pasteurization of milk is sure to follow chlorination, and he warned his audience to be ready and oppose such a move.

"I'm against chlorination because it's a poison and because it's an out of date method of purifying water," Mr. Loutet said.

DEADLY POISON

Dr. A. S. Murphy of Vancouver, who said he was more than 72 and was once an orthodox doctor, said chlorine is a deadly poison, a horrible poison. He said it causes all sorts of upsets to the human system, and enumerated many of them in detail.

"The people who are foisting chlorination on you are the big chemical houses of America, and the doctors are making money out of it," Dr. Murphy said.

Water is a necessary food, he said, but because of chlorination the people of Vancouver are not drinking enough water. He said many people have no doubt the recent death of Max Kinnaird, founder of the anti-chlorination, was due to chlorine in the water, contributing to perforated ulcer of the stomach.

Dr. Murphy said he refuses to drink chlorinated water and has put tube under his eaves to catch rain water, "so personally I don't know anything about chlorinated water, because I haven't drunk it."

PROTEST PARADE

Capt. Wm. Ellis said he didn't care what scientific men in Ottawa, "under that little sawdust Caesar" said, he was still opposed to chlorination. He thought citizens should stage a protest parade to City Hall, because little politicians didn't like parades.

Alderman P. E. George said he has always been opposed to chlorination as he is opposed to vaccination, but he didn't think the City Council should be blamed quite as much for chlorination as the meeting may have been led to believe.

Harry Langley was chairman, speaking briefly and reading the resolutions. John Day said, "We're not going to have chlorination, if we can stop it." Several people in the audience spoke, and Saanich residents expressed alarm when told their septic tanks would be useless when chlorination starts.

SIX RESOLUTIONS

In all six resolutions were passed. In addition to the above one deplored a statement by Dr. E. C. Dolman of Vancouver that people who oppose chlorination are ignoramuses. This resolution said "It is not the prerogative of Dr. Dolman or any other public servant to castigate the public for coming to its own considered opinions and ventilating them in the public press."

One resolution dealt with the claim of Pensions and Health Minister Ian Mackenzie that the provincial health department here had not sent reports to Ottawa on the condition of the water in Victoria. This had not been done for the last five years, the resolution said, although they had been requested to be sent to Ottawa each year.

"This meeting resolves that this meeting go on record as expressing its surprise and indignation at this neglect on the part of our provincial health department, especially having regard to the fact that an order-in-council has been passed compelling the chlorination of our water on the strength of what the minister calls 'secret reports,'" the resolution said.

INQUIRY ASKED

The same resolution asked that an inquiry be made at once by the Provincial Secretary "into the methods used in the provincial health department to combat infectious diseases; and that a competent commission of inquiry be instituted to check up and determine the extent and value of the educational propaganda being used by this department in connection with public schools."

Another resolution said "we do solemnly affirm that we, the citizens of Victoria, are the people who should determine such matters (as chlorination), and we do here and now solemnly affirm our sovereignty and challenge the right of the Minister of Health and of his government, that sovereignty, without showing cause therefore. We also voice our regret that the mayor and aldermen of this city should have been inveigled into signing an agreement with the Department of Health to chlorinate our water, without first submitting the matter to the citizens, and asking their approval or disapproval."

W.A. No. 65 to Typographical Union, will meet Nov. 13 instead of Nov. 11 at 2 in the Jones Building.

"Fine or superfine?" Asked Mr. Jones

"Oh, Superfine definitely," answered Mrs. Jones.

"Hmmm, cup of something hot. Wouldn't be coffee?"

"No," answered Mrs. Jones, "though some people are still under the mistaken impression that it is a coffee substitute."

"Does it taste like coffee?" asked Mr. Jones.

"It certainly doesn't," said Mrs. Jones sharply. "And it doesn't taste like tea, either. It has a hearty flavor all its own."

"Well, if it tastes so good, probably it's not very good for me," said Mr. Jones slyly.

"It is indeed good for you. No caffeine to give you headaches or to keep you awake. Just a cup of wholesomeness..."

"It's POSTUM," cried both Mr. and Mrs. Jones at the same time.

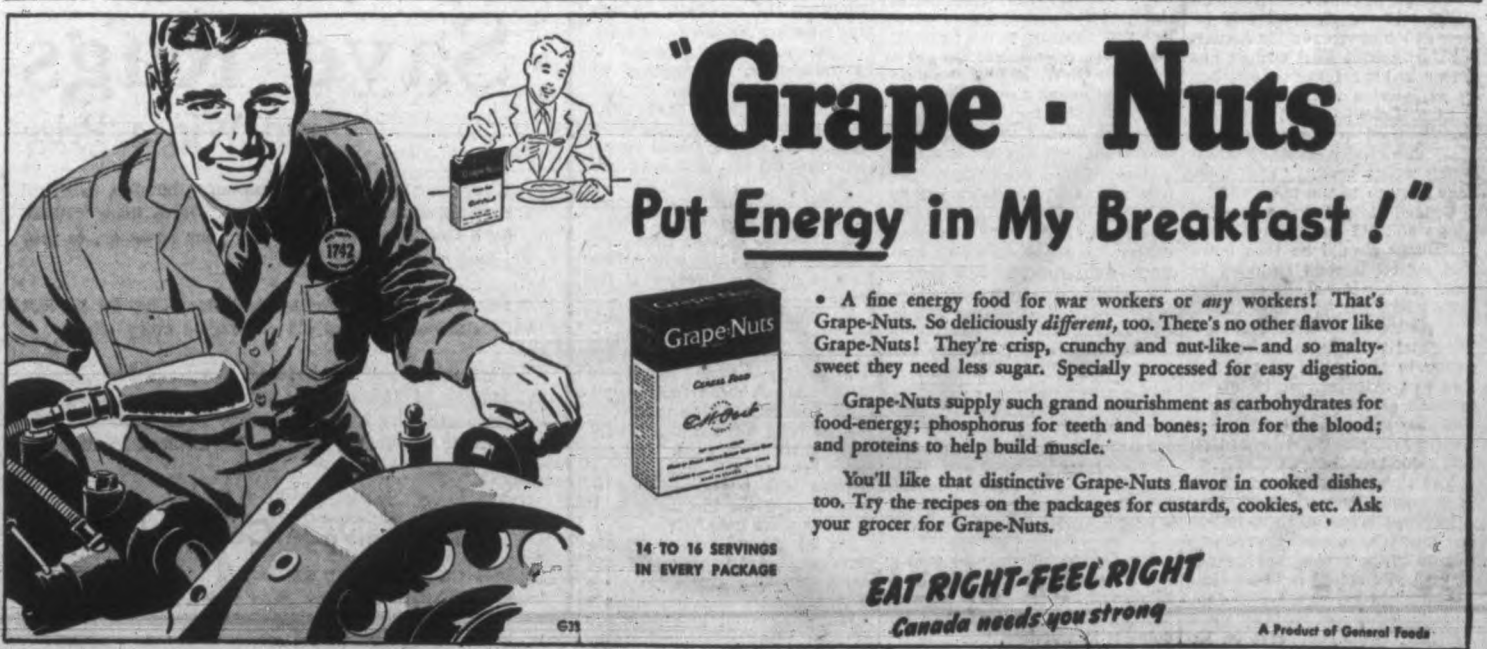

And so Mr. Jones had no forfeit to pay. And you will pay no forfeit if you make Postum a regular mealtime beverage. Nothing in it to upset nerves or digestion. Wholesome for the whole family. Economical (costs less than a cent a cup) and easy to prepare.

There are two forms of Postum—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup simply by adding boiling water; and Postum Cereal Beverage, prepared like coffee in pot, percolator or glass coffee-maker.

Esquimalt Endorses Millwood Protest

A protest of the Corporation of the District of Saanich that millwood originally intended for the Greater Victoria area and surrounding municipalities, might be deferred to the mainland, was endorsed by the municipality of Esquimalt at a council meeting Monday night.

Councillor J. P. A. Christensen moved and Councillor J. A. Ellis seconded the resolution, and the council agreed that a letter should be sent to the regional fuel officer at Vancouver, on the matter. "The District Fuel Officer has been asked to salvage six carloads of millwood a week from Great Central Lake — wood that was usually used in the mills' burners," the letter from Saanich municipality read. "The wood may now go to the mainland."

Council decided that a gasoline pump and old stable building in Esquimalt should be torn down and materials thus obtained be used for establishment of a dog pound building.

A motion of Councillor T. Hadfield that there be an upward revision in the prices of reverted lots was defeated. A by-law to regulate sale and delivery of fuel and to guarantee the proper weight and quality, received first and second reading.

Island Army Units 148% of Loan Quota

Lowering of the Victory Loan flag marking the conclusion of a highly successful campaign took place in a celebration at Work Point Barracks Monday afternoon, at which 400 massed troops were addressed by Herbert Anson, Minister of Public Works.

Brig. J. F. Preston, M.C., presented pennants to the nine units attaining 125 per cent of quota with 75 per cent of strength contributing. The silver cup for sub-area showing highest percentage, 178 per cent, was awarded to Fortress unit, represented by Lieut. R. B. McMicking.

Total subscriptions to the Fifth Victory Loan to date is $498,250, Lieut. Carl Brand, island organizer, reported, and with sales still being filed, it is expected the $500,000 mark will be reached. Quota for island armed forces was $355,000. Lieut. Brand announced that 83 per cent of the men in uniform invested in the loan.

He pointed out that for men receiving perhaps $45 a month, of which more often than not $20 was assigned home, buying a $100 bond cut down their spending allowances to $9 a month.

Salvage Corps Needs Rags and Magazines

Schools of Oak Bay, Victoria and Saanich are competing in a drive to obtain clothing for British Bundles, starting Nov. 15.

Clothing and any rags that can be used for paint-wiping, wrapping airplane parts, etc., are to be weighed, and the schoolchild collecting the largest amount will be awarded prize of war-saving stamps.

The Red Cross Corps, members of the I.O.D.E. and Boy Scouts are co-operating with the Salvage Corps to obtain more magazines for distribution to servicemen.

The Salvage Corps has established a large room at the Church Hotel, where the I.O.D.E. are busy sending out postcards to housewives, notifying them of the time scheduled for pick-ups in salvage trucks. Phone calls are also accepted here and route sheets made up.

Jamaica Gibbets Carry Memory of Old Pirate Days

If we visit Jamaica today we can see a display of several gibbets on which pirates were hanged. Most of the hangings took place while Henry Morgan was acting as governor of the island. That was more than 250 years ago.

Morgan himself had been a pirate, and it may seem strange that he ever should have had charge of a British colony. Yet that very thing happened.

During his boyhood, Morgan was kidnapped in Bristol, England, and was sent across the Atlantic to Barbadoes. Escaping from his master, he reached Jamaica, which at that time was being used by pirates as a centre for their work. As a young man, he joined a band of pirates, and soon rose to be a captain. Later he became "admiral" of a pirate fleet.

British pirates of those days usually preyed on the Spaniards. Almost all the gold and silver mines in the New World were owned by Spain, and Spanish vessels had the most treasure. A kind of off-and-on war was taking place between Great Britain and Spain, and British pirates could feel that they were being a bit "patriotic."

The governor of Jamaica asked Morgan to capture a few Spanish prisoners so he could learn more about an attack on Jamaica which was being planned. Morgan not only took the prisoners, but also captured a Spanish town. Later he destroyed a small Spanish fleet.

Those deeds put the pirate in favor, and he was given charge of the British fleet in Jamaica. As time went on, he became lieutenant governor of the colony, and then acting governor.

Knowing a good deal about the habits of pirates, Morgan was able to capture many of them. One after another was hanged.

Jamaica today is a British colony, but it has only a small proportion of white people. The slaves who were brought from Africa long ago have left many descendants. In 1833 the slaves were set free, but they stayed on afterwards. Negroes and mulattoes make up more than 97 per cent of the present population of 1,173,000.

FIRST VICTORIAN to return wearing the coveted insignia of the Fleet Air Arm of the Royal Navy, Lieut. (Pilot) Jack Grogan, former star of Victoria rep rugby teams, is spending two weeks' leave in the city after 14 months in England. He is the son of L. A. Grogan, 1187 Beach Drive. Having enlisted in the R.C.N.V.R., Grogan is on loan to the Royal Navy and will return to England after his holiday here.

While in England, Grogan continued his rugby career and had many interesting experiences while performing as playing captain of a Fleet Air Arm fifteen at a naval fighter school. He divided his playing between stand-off half and fullback. "It was never in better condition than when I was playing with the English team," Grogan said. "They certainly take their game seriously. We used to have physical training every morning for rugby and practice three times a week. But they play the game strictly according to the book over there and if you pull something different it catches them wide open."

Smartest club Grogan played against was that fielded by Keyham College, the Royal Navy engineering college. "We hit this club right at its peak and suffered a 26 to 6 defeat. But we didn't feel too badly as the College had previously blanked Oxford 10 to 0 and beaten Cambridge. Another interesting match was against Sherborne College, one of the oldest schools in England, having been founded in 525. But the toughest match I played in was against the Bridgewater Barbarians, whose line-up included a number of Welsh miners."

"Teams in England play the game hard and their tackling is letter perfect," Grogan said. "You never see a fellow step on him and it was certainly grand playing against such a fine bunch of fellows."

Grogan has enjoyed being in England and has no regrets about returning. He questioned the Victoria boys about the food problem. "Well, you get plenty to eat but the food is awfully plain. It will not make me mad if I never see another Brussels sprout, cabbage or potato. Quite often your sweet tooth catches up with you, but, taking conditions all around, they are not bad. Canadians in England consider milk chocolate bars and Canadian cigarettes as big prizes."

Grogan turned out with the Royal Canadian Navy rugby squad in Saturday's match against the Naval College and today is sporting a badly swollen ankle for his efforts. Thursday, Jack will be on hand to root for the Victoria Boys against Vancouver in the McKee Cup match here. "It will be like old times to watch the Victoria boys in action again."

Canada Football Final Slated For Nov. 27 at Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Hamilton Cassels, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, Monday night announced that the annual east-west game for the Dominion football championship and the Grey Cup would be played in Varsity Stadium in Toronto Saturday, Nov. 27.

The announcement, which said also that eastern Canada final would be played in Toronto Nov. 26, came as eight teams were still in the running to enter the annual Dominion title game—six in the east and two in the west.

The west's representatives in the east-west game will be decided Thursday in Regina in the second game of a two-game total-point series between the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers and Regina Roughriders. Winnipeg carries a one-point lead into the game by virtue of their 1 to 0 conquest of Riders in the first game at Winnipeg Saturday.

The champions of the Quebec Rugby Football Union and the Ontario Rugby Football Union will meet in the eastern Canada final.

In the Ontario union, Hamilton Flying Wildcats are in first place and will be one of the two teams in the sudden-death play-off game in Hamilton Saturday. The other two teams in the running are Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes, Dominion champions last year, and Toronto Balmy Beach, Beaches, one point behind Hurricanes, can enter the play-offs by beating Toronto Navy in the final scheduled game of the season here Wednesday night.

Annis Stukus Wins Grid Scoring Title

TORONTO (CP)—Annis Stukus, Toronto Balmy Beach quarterback, has clinched the scoring championship of the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior series, it was shown Monday in the weekly statistics.

With one more game to go against Navy, Stukus now has 59 points, based on three touchdowns, 10 field goals, four singles and 10 conversions. His closest rival is Joe Krol of Hamilton Flying Wildcats whose coal, eight singles and seven conversions give him 48 points. Hamilton's schedule is finished and Krol has no chance of overtaking Stukus.

The big two gained little ground in the last week. Stukus added only three points to his total with a field goal. Krol scored two points, both on conversions, in two games.

Walter Gibb of Hamilton, in third place, picked up four to bring his total to 35.

Rangers Take Ribbing

By CHARLIE EDWARDS
TORONTO (CP)—New York hockey writers are ribbing the weak Rangers. Dan Parker says Frank Boucher's return may be the forerunner of a trend in hockey, and adds: "This is a warning to Lester Patrick to get on those shin pads and brush up on his skating. He may be in there himself before the season warms up."

Before Don Grosso returned to Detroit Red Wings he applied for army enlistment in Toronto, but didn't pass his medical. However, Grosso asked the army doctors their opinion of his physical ability to play hockey, and they gave him the okay.

The fund to establish a hockey hall of fame in Kingston, Ont., is on its way. When Boston Bruins played that 9 to 9 exhibition tie with Frontenacs in Kingston last Wednesday, the gate of $2,098 was the highest in history there. Bruins donated their entire one-third share to the hall of fame fund.

DEVELOP HOCKEY PLAYERS

Vic Copes of the Timmins Press figures results of this year's professional hockey trials indicate northern Ontario's Porcupine district will be an important incubator of hockey talent. He quotes Fred Cox, Detroit Red Wings scout, as saying the Porcupine circuit will be watched closely in future by the big league clubs. This year the Porcupine contributed Eric Prentice to Toronto Leafs, George DeSilva to Detroit's farm club, Indianapolis; Freddy Belanger to the Buffalo Bisons junior farm at Brantford, Bill Curlek and Dave Robertson to the Detroit junior farm at Galt.

Warren Stevens, former Syracuse University athlete who coached University of Toronto football team for years, is taking an R.C.A.F. assignment at Ottawa. It is understood he will work in connection with the new duty fitness program. Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star notes Toronto Hurricanes have been ribbing Joe Krol, Hamilton halfback, and recalls that when Krol was playing in Windsor an opponent charged him with being afraid to tackle. "On the next play Krol hit an enemy ball carrier so hard they both didn't get up for several minutes. Two plays later Krol ran 47 yards for a touchdown."

Iron Shot, Alsab Score Race Wins

BALTIMORE (CP)—Miss Ella Widener's Iron Shot, the longest shot in a field of six jumpers, won the 23rd running of the $7,500 added Manly Steeplechase Handicap at Pimlico Monday.

M. A. Cushman's Rough Dragon was favored at the mutuels but finished a bad last. Iron Shot was ridden by Norman Brown and covered the approximately 2½ miles, including 18 hedges, in 5:09.35 over a wet course. The victory was worth $6,475 to Miss Widener.

Iron Shot returned $27.50, $7.40 and $3.20 for $2 at the mutuels.

Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab returned to the winner's circle for the first time in nearly a year when he won the $2,000 Discovery Purse, covering the 1.16th miles in 1:49.45 over a muddy track. He was ridden by George Woolf of Cardston, Alta., and at the finish held a three-length margin over G. T. Strother's Abrasion. He paid $6.60 for $2.

Vancouver Names Rep Rugby Squad For Fixture Here

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Reps' team to meet Victoria Reps in the McKee Cup game at Victoria Thursday was named Monday. Nine members of the Rowing Club four from Ex-Britannia, and two from the R.C.A.F. teams make up the fifteen, with another Ex-Britannia man as spare.

The team selected follows: Don Rush (Rowing Club), full back; Art Hicks (Rowing Club), George Bogdanovich (Ex - Britannia), Harry Purdy (Rowing Club), Don Ralston (Rowing Club), three-quarters; Harry Winters (Ex-Britannia), five-eighths; Pat Whitall (Rowing Club), half-back; Dave Moon (Rowing Club), Al Thomas (Rowing Club), Ray Cormack (Ex-Britannia), Bill Thomson (R.C.A.F.), Flt. Sgt. R. Grant (R.C.A.F.), Frank McCann (Rowing Club), Frank Alvares (Ex-Britannia), and Toy Rowan (Rowing Club), forwards. Spare will be Alex Turkington, wing three-quarter of Ex-Britannia.

7 Years, $17,500 Fine
NEW YORK (AP)—Stephen Weinberg, 50, who had pleaded guilty to charges he operated a school for draft dodgers, was sentenced to seven years in prison to be followed by five years on probation and fined $17,500 by Federal Judge Murray Hulbert Monday. Weinberg admitted he had instructed prospective inductees, for fees ranging from $200 to $2,000, to feign mental incompetence and thus escape military service.

In 1921 he posed as a high naval officer and escorted the Princess Fatima, Sultana of Kabul, Afghanistan, from New York to Washington and presented her to President Warren G. Harding.

Leads Vancouver Unit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Major Douglas Forin of Vancouver, second in command of the Vancouver Seaforth Highlanders during the Sicilian campaign, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel and named commander of the battalion, according to word received by J. A. Forin.

Winnipeg Has Good Hockey Prospects

Star Players Available

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg senior hockey coaches have something big league puck moguls would give their eye teeth for—an abundance of playing talent. With the opening of the Armed Forces Hockey League less than a week away, mentors of the league's three teams have no kick to offer as far as available material is concerned.

For instance, Flt.-Lt. Bill Cockburn has a raft of experienced performers around which to mold his 1942-43 edition of Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers. A glance over the list will bear this fact out.

In goal Cockburn has Scotty Milne, Saskatchewan lad who used to stop pucks for Harrington and Wembley teams in the English League, and on the defence he has Wally Stanowski and Alf Pike, former star blueliners in the National Hockey League, and Butch Marchant.

Navy Defeats R.C.A.F. For Second Hockey Win

Brown Stars With Three Counters

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Victoria's Royal Canadian Navy stood at the top of the Pacific Coast Senior Amateur Hockey League today as the only team with two straight wins in as many games and fans had the sailors marked as the team with the fire-power.

Navy practically skated rings around the favored Sea Island R.C.A.F. Sea Hawks for two periods Monday night, then weathered a third period storm to come up with an 8 to 6 win.

It was a much easier victory than their first at Nanaimo Saturday when they bested the touted Army Commanders 2 to 1 and gave them undisputed possession of the league's top spot.

The Navy showed fire-power aplenty in the opening period when they whipped in five without a reply from the airmen. And right - winger Hal Brown marked himself as a wingman to watch as he got three Navy goals and assisted on another.

Gordie Petrie and Murdo McKay each got two sailor goals, the other going to Jack Tomson.

Sea Hawks didn't break into the scoring column until the second when McBride converted Quilty's relay. Blade got another for the Airmen before the period ended and Jack Adams, Quilty, Lowe and Shamlock scored in the third period Sea Hawk drive that fell two goals short of tying the count.

Ulbrickson Named Athletics Director

SEATTLE (AP)—Tacturn Al Ulbrickson, the crew coach within a crew, became the University of Washington's director of athletics Monday.

The only Washington man ever to win fame as both an athlete and a coach at his alma mater succeeds Roland Beishaw, who announced his resignation to enter Red Cross field service. Ulbrickson is rated as one of Washington's greatest all-time strokes. As a coach, he saw his Washington Varsity win four of the last six crew races at Poughkeepsie.

Intercollegiate rowing at Washington has been dropped for the war's duration, but Ulbrickson said he expected to continue an intramural crew program.

One of his first major tasks is expected to be an attempt to guide Washington into a Rose Bowl game, possibly against Southern California.

Bristol, England, now has 21 wartime nurseries affiliated to the National Society of Children's Nurseries.

Mrs. Jenner, Caterer Here Years Ago, Dies

A link with Victoria's gay social life of half a century ago has been severed by the death at St. Joseph's Hospital of Mrs. Ada Mary Jenner, 79, for years one of the city's best known and most capable caterers.

Forty years ago few social affairs were held in Victoria unless Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reed Jenner could be engaged for the catering. They arranged official banquets for the City of Victoria at the old Driad Hotel, state dinners at Government House, when it was Cary Castle and smart private affairs at the old Mount Baker Hotel on Beach Drive, where King George V and Queen Mary stayed when they were here at the turn of the century. Few navy balls were held at the old Assembly Hall on Fort Street, or big "prom" concerts at the old Drill Hall on Menzies Street without Mr. and Mrs. Jenner in the kitchen in charge of food.

When Mrs. Jenner died his wife carried on, but in a smaller way, catering for small dances and dinners until a few years ago. Mrs. Jenner was born in England and came to Canada about 60 years ago.

Fuel Head Praises Subsidy Extension

Extension of the $1-a-cord wood production subsidy, to March 31, will have a good effect on the local wood situation, providing an added incentive to dealers to bring out all the bushwood they can, W. O. McPherson, fuel officer, stated today.

The extension of the subsidy was announced by E. W. Bourque, western representative of the wood fuel controller at Vancouver, Monday. Originally the subsidy was due to expire Dec. 31, but an amendment is being put through to the existing subsidy order-in-council, allowing for the extension.

"This order will help keep the bushwood dealer in business," according to Mr. McPherson. Stating that there was no need for anyone in the city of Victoria to go without wood, he said that of 3,000 orders placed with the city last month by citizens who could not get dealers to promise deliveries, 2,960 have been filled.

"The city and each municipality has a distress office open to take orders from customers who cannot get the dealers to accept their orders," he said, adding, however, that "this does not apply to Esquimalt, which has not opened an office to take orders from residents of the district."

Sawdust supplies, he said, were very short. In reference to pre-paid orders for wood, Mr. McPherson urged buyers in cases where delivery date was uncertain, to have a receipt stating specifically that wood fuel would be delivered within a set time, and that money would be returned if the wood was undelivered at that time.

Canada Needs Paper To Send Overseas

A. P. Jewett, Wartime Prices and Trade Board administrator of book and writing papers, states that waste paper, particularly the more fibrous types, is going to war in a variety of ways. "We have presently before us paper requirements from almost all theatres of war, and from the British Dominions, and we hope to meet them all in a reasonable way," Mr. Jewett observed. "Just the other day Canada supplied 1,500 tons of paper for use by the British 8th Army for all sorts of official and propaganda work in liberated areas of Sicily and Italy."

Not long ago, he said, paper shortage was so acute in New Zealand that, at army post near Auckland it was necessary to post orders of the day written on the back of a cigarette box. This situation in New Zealand has since been relieved by made-in-Canada paper. Mr. Jewett emphasized that the more fibrous types of paper are the most urgently required, such as strong paper bags, writing papers, magazines, and paper containers. "I wish I could bring home to the Canadian housewife the great contribution that would be made if they would wrap garbage in newspaper and save the ordinary brown paper bag," Mr. Jewett declared.

Casualty Services Take Part in Test

Saanich first aid posts and points were assumed to be destroyed Monday night during an air raid practice in which 30 casualties received "blitz" treatment at the air raid scene before being taken by two Victoria and two Saanich ambulances to Quadra Primary School first aid point. Using improvised appliances and materials, Saanich first aid workers prepared the casualties for the trip to the city first aid point, where trained A.R.P. workers went into action.

Those taking part in the practice included the Women's Ambulance Corps, recording staff of the Red Cross and St. John Ambulance nursing division. Present at the practice were Capt. E. D. W. Leven, Saanich controller; Inspector A. H. Bishop, Victoria controller; Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria chief warden; Dr. J. L. Gayton, Saanich health officer; and Dr. C. S. Beale, provincial gas officer.

T. Cresswell, district warden, was in charge of the first aid point. Officers in attendance were pleased with the exercises and gave credit to all units taking part.

One parking and one speeding case in city court today produced fines totaling $17.50.

Kenneth F. Smith, WO2, headquarters staff, Greater Victoria Air Cadet Wing, and former member of the 89th Victoria High squadron, has enlisted for air crew in the R.C.A.F. and left for the training depot at Edmonton. He is the son of Sgt.-Maj. and Mrs. Thos. Smith, 537 Burnside Road.

A woman found guilty Monday on a charge of vagrancy, today received from Magistrate H. C. Hall a $50 fine and a severe reprimand. "Your conduct day after day has been such as to cast a serious reflection on your children. I can see nothing more injurious to children than for their mother to conduct herself as you have."

Plans for a meeting with C. R. Patterson, president of the Aeronautical Institute of Canada, due here Nov. 25, will be made by the city's postwar rehabilitation committee. Alderman B. J. Annual Remembrance Day ceremony will take place in St. Andrew's Cathedral at 10.55 a.m. Thursday, when the Bishop of Victoria will chant the solemn Pontifical Requiem Mass and Libera. The occasional sermon will be delivered by Rev. T. J. Mangar. Members of the three services and other organizations will attend. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be represented by Maj. L. Bullock-Webster. Ald. D. D. McTavish will represent the City Council.

Meetings Cancelled

Owing to a change in plans, the meetings which were to have been held by Dr. G. A. B. Hall, mayoralty candidate, in city schools, have been canceled. Due notice will be given of other meetings to be arranged. Dr. Hall will make a broadcast Dec. 2 at 6.45, and will address a public meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Dec. 4.

Admiral Brodeur Inspects Cadets At Naval College

Cadets of the Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads will inherit noble traditions now being built up by the Royal Canadian Navy in fighting action, the 100 cadets were told today by Rear-Admiral V. G. Brodeur, C.B.E., R.C.N., commanding officer, Pacific Coast, on his first official visit to the college.

The admiral congratulated the officers and staff of the college on what he called their marvelous showing in the Fifth Victory Loan. Subscriptions totaled almost $15,000 or 166 per cent of the original quota.

Admiral Brodeur was greeted by Capt. J. M. Grant, R.C.N., commanding officer of the college, and by the executive officer, Lt.-Cmdr. G. H. Davidson, R.C.N. He was accompanied on the visit by Surgeon-Capt. A. Laroche, R.C.N.V.R., senior naval medical officer, Pacific Command, and by his flag lieutenant, Lieut. C. C. McGibbon, R.C.N.V.R.

Cadets, hailing from towns and cities throughout Canada, looked smart and alert as they lined up for inspection on the terrace in front of the college's magnificent new cadet block. With them were their term lieutenants, Lieut. L. K. Eden, R.C.N.V.R., Montreal, and Sub-Lt. A. R. Huntington, R.C.N.V.R., Vancouver.

Admiral Brodeur, obviously gratified by the smartness of the showing, told the cadets that they are enjoying the opportunity of a lifetime to learn lessons of conduct and discipline designed to fit them for future careers in the Canadian naval service.

"You have behind you a real Canadian naval tradition which started with our first naval college, of which your captain was one of the successful students," he said. The admiral declared the college is one of the finest in the British Empire and that its staff of instructors is "the finest your country can produce."

On arrival at Royal Roads, Admiral Brodeur inspected the seamen's guard. Then he met all officers on the staff. A highlight of the formal visit was the admiral's inspection of the new cadet block, the administration building, the engineering school, mess decks, seamanship room and gun battery.

19 Projects Listed By City for Postwar

Nineteen projects, varying in cost estimates from $2,000 to $2,000,000, were listed by the city's postwar rehabilitation committee today for inclusion in the B.C. rehabilitation program if such action is acceptable to Hon. H. G. Perry, chairman of the provincial group.

A report signed by 10 aldermen recommended that action and listed the proposed undertakings. The included a new City Hall, reforestation, new fire halls, waterfront beautification, library, schools, homes for aged men, women and orphans, city beautification, regional and town planning, Portage Inlet and other waterway improvements, Beacon Hill Park illumination and beautification, a swimming pool at Ross Bay, major waterworks improvements, roads and public works, extension of the Ross Bay seawall, new sewers and a new transportation system.

Attorney-General To Decide On Case

Magistrate H. C. Hall today referred to the Attorney-General's department the application of R.C.A.F. authorities to have the indecent assault charge of Sgt. William Alfred Roper, R.C.A.F., transferred to R.C.A.F. court. It was understood to be the first application of this kind to be made in police court here.

Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison, reading from the Journal of Criminal Law, referred to the practice of English courts of giving jurisdiction to the military in cases involving servicemen.

"It is not the time for words, but the time for action," Bishop John C. Cody said, expressing the thoughts of all members of the committee.

The city was represented by Alderman John Worthington, who assured the meeting of the civic support to any campaign of such nature.

After the general discussion, at which many suggestions as to ways and means for the success of the drive were weighed, the following "committee members met: G. Kasson, Trades and Labor Council; R. Edge, Labor-Progressive; Mrs. F. L. Riley, C.C.F.; F. Hall, Centennial Bible Class; Alderman Worthington, Bishop Cody, Kuldeep Singh Bains, and Rev. Turner.

The committee, which will meet again Friday, decided to wire Prime Minister Mackenzie King, asking support for a national campaign on behalf of India and her vital problem. Organizations will also contact their Dominion leaders, seeking their assistance in the drive.

Pilot Awarded D.F.C.

A protégé of Squad. Ldr. A. W. "Nick" Carter's air cadet movement in Vancouver, P.O. Raymond F. Smith, R.C.A.F., son of Rev. David A. Smith, superintendent of Chinese missions for the Presbyterian Church of Canada, has been awarded the D.F.C. "for gallantry and determination in hazardous circumstances."

Mrs. A. C. Ross Tells Civic Objectives

In wartime, there is more important work for the police than marking cars, Mrs. A. C. Ross, aldermanic candidate, said today in an outline of her platform for December's civic election.

Speaking to the C.C.F. Women's Auxiliary, she emphasized the importance of character in members of the police commission.

Pledging full co-operation to the war effort, Mrs. Ross dealt briefly with pinball machines, houses of ill-fame, clean streets, safe corners, for motorists and strict enforcement of a curfew by-law as she endorsed a general clean-up.

She outlined women's abilities in certain civic fields, including health, sanitation, inspection of restaurants and food and in the housing field as well as general welfare work.

Mrs. Ross called for improvement in land sales policy to bring sales prices closer into line with assessments and advocated reservation of property for future development of a civic centre.

Dealing with education, she advocated the best possible opportunities for all children and supported a postwar planning setup in which a definite plan would be established and all concerned would work to attain its objectives.

$50 for Person Who Finds Mystery Man

Amateur sleuths in Victoria were not successful last week-end in tracking down the Mystery Man, but they will have another chance to win the $50 Victory Bond he carries in his pocket next Saturday.

The Mystery Man, who lolled with his hands in his pockets casually beside the doorway at Spencer's at the appointed hour, was not approached by any one who could produce a ticket on the Lions' house raffle. And that is one of the stipulations—that the person finding the Mystery Man should also be a holder of a ticket on the beautiful bungalow.

The Lions Club of Victoria, having bought the bond for some lucky person, will again give citizens a chance to win it by "planting" the Mystery Man on downtown streets. Two rules of the game—ask him if he is the Mystery Man and have a ticket to the Lions' house. The first person doing so will not only be $50 to the good, but will also be aiding the service club in essential work.

Proceeds raised on the house will go to the Waifs and Strays Society of London. The Queen has designated the club for the benefit of the many thousands of little children who are suffering from shock as the result of bombing.

Victoria Group Plans to Help India

To alleviate the acute suffering of India's starving peoples, a committee was formed Monday at a meeting sponsored by the Centennial United Church, Bible Society and the East Indian Youth Association. Held at the Y.M.C.A., Rev. John Turner was in the chair, Kuldeep Singh Bains, vice-president.

Churches, labor and political organizations sent representation, many of whom spoke of the urgency of the need, and recommended quick action in sending food, and perhaps cash, to the unfortunate people of that part of the British Empire.

"This is not the time for words, but the time for action," Bishop John C. Cody said, expressing the thoughts of all members of the committee.

The city was represented by Alderman John Worthington, who assured the meeting of the civic support to any campaign of such nature.

After the general discussion, at which many suggestions as to ways and means for the success of the drive were weighed, the following "committee members met: G. Kasson, Trades and Labor Council; R. Edge, Labor-Progressive; Mrs. F. L. Riley, C.C.F.; F. Hall, Centennial Bible Class; Alderman Worthington, Bishop Cody, Kuldeep Singh Bains, and Rev. Turner.

The committee, which will meet again Friday, decided to wire Prime Minister Mackenzie King, asking support for a national campaign on behalf of India and her vital problem. Organizations will also contact their Dominion leaders, seeking their assistance in the drive.

Report Army Clubs Withdraw From All Hockey Leagues

There was much speculation in Victoria today over the future of the Nanaimo Army Hockey team in the Pacific Coast Hockey Association in view of the announcement made by the Toronto Star saying that orders had been issued canceling hockey league entries by Canadian army teams across Canada.

From Nanaimo came a statement from Capt. Harry Mighon, sports officer for the army's Pacific Command, that he had not heard of any order canceling league hockey for army clubs.

TORONTO ANNOUNCEMENT

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Star today quoted secretary-treasurer W. A. Hewitt of the Ontario Hockey Association as saying he understood orders had been issued canceling hockey league entries by Canadian army teams across the country. The paper said Hewitt had been notified that the Toronto Army Diggers entry in the Senior O.H.A. would be withdrawn.

Hewitt was out of the city today and could not be reached for further comment.

COMMANDOS OPERATE

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Commandos, the capital's entry in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, will continue to operate under the army banner if it means being a team made up entirely of civilians, it was learned today.

Club officials, advised that the Montreal army entry has been compelled to withdraw from the Q.S.H.L. because of lack of players, said civilian players will be used where necessary to bolster Commandos.

Revised Education To Bring Renaissance

Contending that "Education is the great physician of the future," Mrs. Hamer Jackson, president of the Vancouver Canadian Authors' Association, addressed the Victoria and Islands branch meeting Monday at the Y.W.C.A.

"Peace Through Education" was the theme of her talk, wherein she expressed the belief that changes in the educational system of today were needed to bring about a spiritual renaissance.

"The second coming of civilization will be born from our present Gethsemane," she said. "Advocating first, a minister of education at Ottawa to unify the provincial system of education in effect now, Mrs. Jackson said the necessity for requalification of nurses, dentists and teachers as they move from one part of the country to another fosters provincialism."

She also suggested the best teachers, preferably doctors of psychology, should be reserved for children of early years, instead of inexperienced teachers. "Before learning to babble," the speaker said, "children should be taught that war is an inglorious admission of failure."

The craft talk usually offered at the Canadian Authors' meeting was given by Mrs. Stella Blair, who spoke on the construction of one-act plays.

Donald Fraser reviewed "Mastering Our Environments," a scientific treatise by Henry O. English of Victoria.

Miss Betty Richardson, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Wright, sang "Who Is Sylvia?" and "Sunshine of Your Smile."

Alex Sutherland was in the chair.

Northern Boom Town Has No Doctor

Port St. John, one of the boom towns on the southern end of the Alaska Highway, has a modern hospital of from 30 to 35 beds, but no doctor, Dr. G. F. Amyot, Provincial Health Officer, said today.

The town is badly in need of a medical man and the provincial health officer has been unable to secure a physician for the town through the College of Physicians and Surgeons or the Registrar of the College in British Columbia.

The physician who was stationed there became ill and left the settlement. Since that time medical men attached to the United States contracting companies building the road, stepped into the breach. With the withdrawal of all but maintenance crews on the highway these American doctors now have left and the town is without medical aid, although it boasts of an up-to-the-minute equipped hospital.

Jap Claims

LONDON (CP)—The Berlin radio quoted Japanese dispatches today as saying three Allied battleships, two cruisers, three destroyers and four transports had been sunk by Japanese warships and planes in attacks on a convoy south of Bougainville, beginning Monday morning. There was no Allied confirmation.

Allies Will Aid Victims of Nazis, Says Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt climaxed the signing of a United Nations relief agreement today with the declaration that it, coupled with the recent Moscow documents, shows that "we mean business in this war in a political and humanitarian sense, just as surely as we mean business in a military sense."

"It is one more strong link joining the United Nations in facing problems of mutual need and interest," he said at the conclusion of a White House ceremony in which representatives of 43 countries, including Canada, joined with the United States in creating the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to feed, clothe, and revive war-stricken nations.

Representatives of the 44 countries will journey to Atlantic City, N.J., tomorrow for discussions on policies and practical means of accomplishing their stupendous relief task. That will be the first meeting of the new administration council.

The French Committee of National Liberation is among the signers of the agreement. The first organized venture by the United Nations is designed to help starving and jobless war victims fight to survive, and then to regain their self-sufficiency.

Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister in Washington, signed for the Dominion.

MUST BE BALANCED

"The sufferings of the little men and women who have been ground under the Axis heel," the President said, "can be relieved only if we utilize the production of all the world to balance the want of all the world."

Mr. Roosevelt said responsibility for alleviating the suffering and misery occasioned by the German and Japanese campaigns of plunder and destruction "must be assumed not by an individual nation, but by all the United and Associated Nations acting together."

Using the British-U.S. assistance to civilians in French Africa as an example, he added: "We have shown that while the war lasts, whenever we help the liberated peoples with essential supplies and services, we hasten the day of the defeat of the Axis powers."

"The more quickly and effectively we apply measures of relief and rehabilitation, the more quickly will our own boys overseas be able to come home." In defeat or in victory, he said, the United Nations have "never deviated from adherence to the basic principles of freedom, tolerance, independence and security."

Restaurant Workers Reorganized Here

NEW YORK (AP)—New Yorkers friendly with the cup that cheers didn't glow today, they glowered—at a report that whisky is so scarce in the city a well known restaurant in the theatrical section is restricting customers to one drink.

Nazi Weather Radio Base Off Greenland Destroyed By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Destruction of a German radio and weather base on an island off the coast of Greenland was reported today by U.S. Navy Secretary Knox.

The small but well-constructed base, Knox said, indicated a plan to maintain it permanently. It included a radio station, power house, emergency generator and radio transmitter, defensive machine gun emplacements and food supplies. A small supply ship anchored in the harbor had telephone communications with all principal shore points.

The German base, the second destroyed by U.S. forces in the Greenland area, was discovered by a U.S. army sledge patrol.

The patrol was attacked by the Germans, but managed to report its discovery, although two of its members were captured and a third, Eli Knudsen, was killed.

The Germans subsequently sent a force against a small hunting and weather station, well above the Arctic Circle, which was manned only by a handful of Danes armed with hunting rifles and pistols. The Germans attacked with machine guns and in the darkness, but most of the Danes escaped.

CUTTERS SHARED IN ATTACK

U.S. army air force planes and the coastguard cutters Northland and North Star joined in wiping out the entire enemy base on the unidentified island. The action started last May with army air force planes bombing and strafing the enemy base.

Later, after the coastguard cutters had battered their way through the ice, it was found the bombings had destroyed all main buildings except a small generator shack, and also had sunk the supply ship.

"No Germans were at the base," Knox said, "and it is believed those not killed by the aerial attacks had been evacuated, perhaps by transport plane."

Turin Paralyzed

AT THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER (CP)—Turin, northern Italian city of 600,000, was virtually paralyzed by Monday's Allied attack by Mediterranean-based Allied bombers, it was established here today. (Allied headquarters in Algiers said photographs showed every building of the vital Fiat bearing plant had been demolished or damaged.)

Victims were estimated in the thousands, dispatches asserted, and this morning fires were still raging along entire streets in the centre of Turin.

Tule Lake Chief Says Japanese Mob Besieged House

TULE LAKE, Calif. (AP)—A crowd of angry Japanese, each armed with a club, surrounded the house of Project Director Ray R. Best at the Tule Lake segregation centre last Thursday night, and in fear of his life he called in the army to take control.

Best was asked Monday night by the California State Senate committee investigating last week's disturbances at the camp just what had caused him to ask the army to move in.

Testimony by two other witnesses that the rebellious Japanese had ringed the Tule Lake Administration Building with oil-soaked straw as a threat to the lives of 150 whites inside brought renewed demands that the centre for proved or suspected disloyal Japanese be kept under army control.

Republican Claire Engle (Dem., Calif.), who came from Washington to sit with the investigating committee, issued a statement saying the testimony "fully confirms the reports of bungling, inefficiency, extravagance and coddling of admitted enemies of our country."

He said he felt it "fully justified" and supports our demands that the Tule Lake camp remain permanently under army control.

The testimony came Monday from C. L. Payne, former internal security officer, and from Ernest Rhodes, former fire control supervisor. Both resigned after last week's disturbances.

Rhodes said the mass demonstration by 8,000 riotous Japanese Monday of last week during a visit by top men in the War Relocation Authority "was an attempt to burn the place down if we had not appeased them."

DOMINION THEATRE
"The secret of an opera singer coming to pictures is to sing as he talks."
So declares Nelson Eddy, famous American baritone, who plays Jeanette MacDonald's lover in "Naughty Marietta," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular film translation of the immortal Victor Herbert musical romance now playing at the Dominion Theatre. In fact, Eddy adds, it's the secret of success in song generally.

JAP CAMP CENTRE OF STRIFE—After several days of rumors and denials of strife among disloyal Japanese at the Tule Lake, Calif., segregation centre, W.R.A. national director Dillon Myer and camp director Ray Best revealed details of discontent and a recent strike by 15,000 Japanese against harvesting farm crops for use in other centres. In these photos are seen the main thoroughfare of the camp at top and workers in one of the camp's onion fields.

R.A.F. Smile Show At Royal Nov. 17

The famous "Smile" Show of the R.A.F. at Patricia Bay has been remodelled—gone is the form in which this popular show originated. The well-known acts which entertained so many local audiences are now hilariously burlesqued and those entertainers have willingly taken lesser roles to enable newcomers to step into the limelight. But those old favorites are still there, appearing throughout this new crazy edition of the Smile Show doing the most unexpected things in the most unexpected places. The Crazy Smile Show is to make its first public appearance at the Royal Victoria Theatre Nov. 17 in aid of the R.A.F. sports and entertainment fund, and judging by reports from Fletcher's Music Store the brisk sale of tickets already points to the new show being as great a success as its well-chosen predecessors.

CADET THEATRE
Joan Crawford plays a dangerous game in M.G.M.'s "Reunion in France," now playing at the Cadet Theatre. Because she wishes to escape Paris, she is forced to dine with a German general, played by Albert Bassermann, and Philip Dorn, whom she believes is an enemy of France.

Bombsights Over The Balkans

MARSHAL Pietro Badoglio, in citing the reasons why Italy could not longer carry on the war against the United Nations, said the Italian will to fight had been smashed by the heavy bombers that stormed over industrial areas and left them twisted in ruins.

British and American bombers can now apply the "Italy treatment" to the Balkans. Occupation of the air base at Foggia and other plane fields along the lower coast of Italy puts them in a position where, within a 600-mile flying range, they can easily batter most of the industrial targets of Hitler's puppet states of Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria.

By intensive bombing, the men in the Flying Forts, Liberators and Lancasters probably can knock out a large part of the Balkan production upon which Hitler depends to bolster his own weakened war-making machinery. Reported already to be seeking a way out of the war, the Balkans in all likelihood would speed their exit if subjected to the same sort of aerial warfare that proved its effectiveness in Italy.

Although these three countries are primarily agricultural and poorly developed industrially, they contain numerous objectives the loss of which would be a mighty blow to the Nazis.

Ploesti, of course, is the number one target. North of Bucharest in southeastern Rumania, it is the country's greatest oil refining centre and the source of one-third of Hitler's entire supply of oil products for his air and ground forces. It is also Rumania's rail hub, with trunk lines extending up to Poland and the Nazi front in the east. Ploesti has been raided numerous times by the Russians, and on Aug. 1 a U.S. force of 175 heavy bombers made a round-trip of 2,400 miles to strike at the oil fields. This attack is believed to have caused considerable damage, but undoubtedly Ploesti is still a highly valuable production point for Hitler.

The three capital cities of the satellites—Bucharest of Rumania, Budapest of Hungary, and Sofia of Bulgaria—are important industrial as well as political objectives. Bucharest has numerous heavy industries, presumably in full production for the Axis. These include railroad car and locomotive factories and repair shops, plane works, automobile assembly plant, manufacturing works and oil refinery. Budapest, which contains the greater part of modern industry in Hungary, is the site of a large government arms factory, shipbuilding yards, and machine and farm implement plants. Sofia produces rubber products, railroad cars and parts, chemicals, textiles and metals.

The Balkans, including occupied Yugoslavia, Albania, and Greece, have been valuable sources of raw materials for Hitler.
Bor, in northeast Yugoslavia, is Europe's largest producer of copper outside of Russia, and its supply, coupled with that of Bulgaria which has been extensively developed by the Reich, has provided the Nazis with a mineral they have vitally needed for the many electrical devices necessary in modern warfare. Hungary's bauxite deposits are believed to be among the world's greatest, and the country also has a considerable output of coal. Rumania has many iron foundries and steel works, and valuable chemicals are produced at Arad, Brazaov and Cluj.
—JOHN L. SPRINGER.

First Love Opera, Says Della Chiesa

"Although I am always grateful to radio, first for establishing me as a singer and then for giving me security, I cannot help confessing that opera is my first and greatest love," says Vivian Della Chiesa, America's great lyric soprano, who has been acclaimed by press and public for her radio and concert, as well as her operatic appearances. Miss Della Chiesa will appear on the Hilker Attractions Modernage Entertainment Series at the Royal Victoria Theatre, Nov. 24.

"Maybe," she continues, "it's my Latin temperament that cries out for the stage and costumes and tragedy, weeping heroines of the great operas."

Always musically inclined, by the time Vivian was 10 years old, her mother, herself an accomplished pianist and daughter of an Italian conductor, began directing the child's talents toward opera. That Vivian was not a reluctant pupil is demonstrated by the fact that she used to dress up and give concerts (to which the neighbors bought tickets) in the garage at home. To the accompaniment of scratchy phonograph records, she broke out in trills and scales and won her first successes. Not content with merely singing in these "backyard concerts," Miss Della Chiesa laughingly recalls that she saw nothing unusual in performing an opera all by herself, playing hero, heroine and all the other characters—all at the same time—with much scurrying back and forth over her makeshift stage— which she always feared would collapse in the midst of one of her sweeping dramatic gestures.

Opera, feels Miss Della Chiesa, enables her to combine her love of acting with her great love of singing.

YORK THEATRE
Jack Benny and Ann Sheridan were discussing various kinds of wind storms—gales, hurricanes, etc. The discussion was prompted by a rain sequence which studio technicians were preparing for Warner Bros' "George Washington Sleep Here," now at the York Theatre.
"Well," concluded Benny, "I know a young man who has his 21st birthday next month, so he says he'll be a monsoon."
Miss Sheridan's screams could be heard clear across the lot.

RIO THEATRE
There have been many stories of mirages on the desert, but this one is different—
Because the script called for the photographing of a mirage during the filming of John Brophy's "Immortal Sergeant," now at the Rio Theatre, Director John Stahl had a problem on his hands.
How does one photograph a mirage?
After several days of deliberation, it was decided to make the mirage real—so Henry Fonda, Allyn Joslyn, Melville Cooper and Morton Lowry came upon their mirage unbelievable.

ATLAS THEATRE
The "eternal triangle" is the theme of Warner Bros' "The Constant Nymph," based on the well-known love story by Margaret Kennedy. Joan Fontaine, Charles Boyer and Alexis Smith are seen in the leading roles in the picture, now at the Atlas Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE
"Hers to Hold," Deanna Durbin's latest film, in which she is co-starred with Joseph Cotten, has been held over at the Plaza Theatre.
Deanna, it is declared, has the best role of her remarkable screen career. She appears as a debutante who goes to work in a war industry and finds romance as well as the satisfaction of serving her country. Cotten portrays an army flyer whose loyalty to the service very nearly thwarts his devotion to the girl he must leave behind.

OAK BAY THEATRE
George Bernard Shaw's wittiest and most brilliant comedy "Major Barbara," is now at the Oak Bay Theatre. The story concerns a multimillionaire who manufactures implements of war in the belief that to "make war on war," it is necessary to use all the strength of modern armaments.
